12 UN Observers Move Into Suez Canal Zone No-Man's Land To Watch Cease-Fire

By WATSON SIMS

LONDON (AP)—A 12-man team of U.N. observers moved into the Suez Canal zone no-man's-land today to watch over the cease-fire between French - British and Egyptian forces.

But the departure of the first U.N. police units for Egypt was postponed. U.N. spokesmen said the reason was "flight times and schedules." At the same time, however, a major dispute over Egypt's terms for admission to the police force appeared to be developing.

Egypt consented to receive the U.N. observers several days ago. Her agreement to the police force was announced only yesterday by U.N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold.

Came From Palestine

The 12-man observer team, including Norwegians, Swedes, Danes and Australians, landed at Port Said in the British - French occupied sector of the canal zone from a landing ship which had picked them up at Haifa. They had been part of the U.N. corps of truce observers in Palestine.

The postponement of the police airlift until tomorrow at least was announced by U.N. spokesmen at Capodichino, Italy, where the 180-man vanguard of the international army is waiting.

A spokesman for the Swiss Air-line, which is to transport the troops to Cairo, said the Swiss pilots wanted to make a daylight reconnaissance of Cairo's International Airport before attempting landings. A U.N. spokesman explained also that it would have been a race today to land the first troops in Cairo before 6 p.m. when the airport is closed for the night for military security reasons.

Expect 10,000 Force

Swiss representatives said some of the airline's own ground crews may also be taken to Cairo to facilitate operations.

Gettysburg Joint School Board Authorizes Closed Noon Hour; Brawls Cited

A "closed" noon hour at the Gettysburg High School will be put into effect as soon as arrangements can be worked out following action of the Gettysburg Joint School Board Monday evening at the high school building.

Under the new regulations pupils will not be permitted to leave the school building from the time school sessions begin in the morning until afternoon dismissal, unless they secure special permission requested in writing by their parents.

The move was proposed for board consideration by Dr. Lloyd C. Keefauver. He did not ask action Monday evening but after the present situation was described directors expressed the opinion that nothing would be gained by delay and authorized that the new rules be placed in effect as soon as possible.

Dr. Keefauver said it might be possible to put the "closed noon hour" in force by next Monday, or possibly not until after Thanksgiving.

Cites "Brawls"

"There have been a great many problems arising from the noon hour activities of some of the high school pupils," Dr. Keefauver said. "It seems they have been becoming more acute lately. They have been congregating at certain places and there have been brawls.

"There seems to be no good reason for their congregating in places that are less desirable for their social and moral well being than the school grounds. This may seem strict but I'm satisfied the school authorities and the parents would rather have the pupils here than congregating in byways where they engage in smoking and conversations and activities that are less than desirable for their own good."

Only a comparative few of the high school students now go home for noon lunch. Reports presented Monday show an average of about 450 ate in the school cafeteria each day last month. The new rule will not prevent pupils from carrying their lunches to school nor will it prevent pupils from going home for lunch in the 30-minute lunch period provided they have a written request from their parents.

Restrict Use Of Cars

Dr. Keefauver said many schools enforce the closed noon hour and listed Chambersburg High School as one nearby school where such a rule is followed. "Students who drive to school have to check their car keys in the school office when they arrive," he added.

The rule adopted here will not involve car keys but will prevent

Robert L. Boyer, 156 York St., was arrested by borough police Monday night when assault and battery charges were filed by N. O. Sixeas, 341 York St., on behalf of his 14-year-old son, Barry.

Boyer, a Gettysburg Junior High School English teacher, is alleged to have struck Barry Sixeas, a student at the school, after school hours.

BOARD OKAYS AGREEMENT ON SCHOOL SITE

The Gettysburg Joint Board of School Directors at its November meeting Monday evening at the high School authorized its officers to execute an agreement of sale with the Adams County Institution District for the purchase of a grade school site on the county farm for $45,000.

The action also authorized a $500 down payment to bind the sale, pending submission of the matter to the Adams County court for approval, possibly on December 17.

If court approval is secured, the deed to the property would be delivered to the school district "on or before July 1, 1957."

Outlined By MacPhail

Terms of the sales agreement were described to the board by Attorney John A. MacPhail after the recommendation of the board's finance and planning committee had been presented by its chairman, Ray J. Kitzmiller, who is also president of the borough school board.

The proposed school site, which contains 10 acres and 55 perches, is located east of the Harrisburg Rd. and south of the second block of E. Broadway.

If the court should not approve the sale plan, the school district will get back its $500 less expenses. Mr. MacPhail said the county commissioners have asked that the school district sign an agreement providing that, if a school building is not erected within five years on the site, the county have the first opportunity to buy back the land at the same sale price.

Districts' Shares Listed

The $500 for the down payment will come out of the general fund but there was some discussion about where the $44,500 should come from when title is secured next year. The districts will be reimbursed by the state for the cost of the land later. The land cost would be a part of the total cost of the new school and will be covered by a bond issue to be sold after bids on the building are opened, but the money to pay for the land will have to be advanced by the member districts.

Dr. Lloyd C. Keefauver, super-

General Gruenther Warns Reds Attack On West Will Result In Retaliation And Destruction

PARIS (AP) — Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther, the outgoing NATO commander, today warned the Soviet Union that any attack on the West would be met with instant retaliation and that Russia would be destroyed.

Answering what he called "threats and blackmail," Gruenther told a farewell news conference that rockets could not destroy the Atlantic Alliance's ability to retaliate.

Although he did not mention Soviet Premier Bulganin by name, he was clearly referring to the Russian's implied warning to France and Britain a week ago that more powerful nations could attack them with "rocket techniques" unless they ended their attack on Egypt.

Gruenther said:

"No nation is going to press that rocket button if it means suicide and it does mean just that.

"Retaliation will take place as day follows night, and the Soviet Union will be destroyed."

Gruenther, who has commanded the NATO forces in Europe since shortly after President Eisenhower took office, turns over his post Nov. 20 to U.S. Gen. Lauris Norstad. He is to retire from the Army Dec. 31 and become president of the American Red Cross the following day.

The Allied supreme commander said air defense developments during the next five years could change the fear of retaliation that at present prevents any nation from launching rocket warfare.

No Change In NATO

"But today the offense still has a tremendous advantage over the defense and we have that offensive capability," he said.

Gruenther said the crises in Hungary and the Middle East have not called for any change in NATO's plans.

He said his headquarters always has placed a big question mark on the reliability of the Soviet satellite armies in event of war.

He also indicated some doubts about the existence of Soviet rockets.

Gettysburg Joint School Board Authorizes Closed Noon Hour; Brawls Cited

A "closed" noon hour at the Gettysburg High School will be put into effect as soon as arrangements can be worked out following action of the Gettysburg Joint School Board Monday evening at the high school building.

Under the new regulations pupils will not be permitted to leave the school building from the time school sessions begin in the morning until afternoon dismissal, unless they secure special permission requested in writing by their parents.

The move was proposed for board consideration by Dr. Lloyd C. Keefauver. He did not ask action Monday evening but after the present situation was described directors expressed the opinion that nothing would be gained by delay and authorized that the new rules be placed in effect as soon as possible.

Dr. Keefauver said it might be possible to put the "closed noon hour" in force by next Monday, or possibly not until after Thanksgiving.

Cites "Brawls"

"There have been a great many problems arising from the noon hour activities of some of the high school pupils," Dr. Keefauver said. "It seems they have been becoming more acute lately. They have been congregating at certain places and there have been brawls.

"There seems to be no good reason for their congregating in places that are less desirable for their social and moral well being than the school grounds. This may seem strict but I'm satisfied the school authorities and the parents would rather have the pupils here than congregating in byways where they engage in smoking and conversations and activities that are less than desirable for their own good."

Only a comparative few of the high school students now go home for noon lunch. Reports presented Monday show an average of about 450 ate in the school cafeteria each day last month. The new rule will not prevent pupils from carrying their lunches to school nor will it prevent pupils from going home for lunch in the 30-minute lunch period provided they have a written request from their parents.

Restrict Use Of Cars

Dr. Keefauver said many schools enforce the closed noon hour and listed Chambersburg High School as one nearby school where such a rule is followed. "Students who drive to school have to check their car keys in the school office when they arrive," he added.

The rule adopted here will not involve car keys but will prevent

Boyer, a Gettysburg Junior High School English teacher, is alleged to have struck Barry Sixeas, a student at the school, after school hours.

BOARD OKAYS AGREEMENT ON SCHOOL SITE

The Gettysburg Joint Board of School Directors at its November meeting Monday evening at the high School authorized its officers to execute an agreement of sale with the Adams County Institution District for the purchase of a grade school site on the county farm for $45,000.

The action also authorized a $500 down payment to bind the sale, pending submission of the matter to the Adams County court for approval, possibly on December 17.

If court approval is secured, the deed to the property would be delivered to the school district "on or before July 1, 1957."

Outlined By MacPhail

Terms of the sales agreement were described to the board by Attorney John A. MacPhail after the recommendation of the board's finance and planning committee had been presented by its chairman, Ray J. Kitzmiller, who is also president of the borough school board.

The proposed school site, which contains 10 acres and 55 perches, is located east of the Harrisburg Rd. and south of the second block of E. Broadway.

If the court should not approve the sale plan, the school district will get back its $500 less expenses. Mr. MacPhail said the county commissioners have asked that the school district sign an agreement providing that, if a school building is not erected within five years on the site, the county have the first opportunity to buy back the land at the same sale price.

Districts' Shares Listed

The $500 for the down payment will come out of the general fund but there was some discussion about where the $44,500 should come from when title is secured next year. The districts will be reimbursed by the state for the cost of the land later. The land cost would be a part of the total cost of the new school and will be covered by a bond issue to be sold after bids on the building are opened, but the money to pay for the land will have to be advanced by the member districts.

Dr. Lloyd C. Keefauver, super-

By WATSON SIMS

LONDON (AP)—A 12-man team of U.N. observers moved into the Suez Canal zone no-man's-land today to watch over the cease-fire between French - British and Egyptian forces.

But the departure of the first U.N. police units for Egypt was postponed. U.N. spokesmen said the reason was "flight times and schedules." At the same time, however, a major dispute over Egypt's terms for admission to the police force appeared to be developing.

Egypt consented to receive the U.N. observers several days ago. Her agreement to the police force was announced only yesterday by U.N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold.

Came From Palestine

The 12-man observer team, including Norwegians, Swedes Danes and Australians, landed at Port Said in the British - French occupied sector of the canal zone from a landing ship which had picked them up at Haifa. They had been part of the U.N. corps of truce observers in Palestine.

The postponement of the police airlift until tomorrow at least was announced by U.N. spokesmen at Capodichino, Italy, where the 180-man vanguard of the international army is waiting.

A spokesman for the Swiss Airline, which is to transport the troops to Cairo, said the Swiss pilots wanted to make a daylight reconnaissance of Cairo's International Airport before attempting landings. A U.N. spokesman explained also that it would have been a race today to land the first troops in Cairo before 6 p.m. when the airport is closed for the night for military security reasons.

Expect 10,000 Force

Swiss representatives said some of the airline's own ground crews may also be taken to Cairo to facilitate operations.

Romanus Gastley, Delone Jr. High Gridder, Wins In Football Contest

Romanus Gastley, R. 5, a member of the Delone Junior High School football squad, won the seventh weekly football contest, sponsored by The Gettysburg Times and 20 cooperating merchants and lodges.

Gastley was the only contestant to select as many as 15 winners from the 20 games listed. He chose 34 for his point total in the feature game which was 20, Gettysburg defeating Temple 13-7.

It took the feature game point forecast to decide the second and third prize winners.

Marina Toggas, 232 S. Pine St., York, correctly named 14 winners and selected 28 as her point total to gain second place honors.

New List Today

Edward Gastley, 46 Steinwehr Ave., a Gettysburg Junior High player, also had 14 winners while his point total was 31. His point forecast was good enough to win third prize as two other contestants had 14 winners but had 32 and 39 for the total number of points in the feature game.

Other contestants correctly named the following number of winners: Five, 13 correct; 22, 12; 28, 11; 68, 10; 51, nine; 24, eight; 15, seven; one, six; three, five; two, four.

Twenty games, plus the feature game, Gettysburg vs. F. and M., are listed elsewhere in today's edition of The Gettysburg Times for the eighth weekly contest.

First prize is a $15 merchandise certificate second, $7.50, and third, $2.50.

All entries must be submitted to the offices of The Gettysburg Times not later than Friday at 5 p.m.

General Gruenther Warns Reds Attack On West Will Result In Retaliation And Destruction

PARIS (AP) — Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther, the outgoing NATO commander, today warned the Soviet Union that any attack on the West would be met with instant retaliation and that Russia would be destroyed.

Answering what he called "threats and blackmail," Gruenther told a farewell news conference that rockets could not destroy the Atlantic Alliance's ability to retaliate.

Although he did not mention Soviet Premier Bulganin by name, he was clearly referring to the Russian's implied warning to France and Britain a week ago that more powerful nations could attack them with "rocket techniques" unless they ended their attack on Egypt.

Gruenther said:

"No nation is going to press that (rocket) button if it means suicide and it does mean just that . . .

"Retaliation will take place as day follows night, and the Soviet Union will be destroyed."

Gruenther, who has commanded the NATO forces in Europe since shortly after President Eisenhower took office, turns over his post Nov. 20 to U.S. Gen. Lauris Norstad. He is to retire from the Army Dec. 31 and become president of the American Red Cross the following day.

The Allied supreme commander said air defense developments during the next five years could change the fear of retaliation that at present prevents any nation from launching rocket warfare.

No Change In NATO

"But today the offense still has a tremendous advantage over the defense and we have that offensive capability," he said.

Gruenther said the crises in Hungary and the Middle East have not called for any change in NATO's plans.

He said his headquarters always has placed a big question mark on the reliability of the Soviet satellite armies in event of war.

He also indicated some doubts about the existence of Soviet rockets.

CLARK IS MAN WITH PASSION FOR "GOOD GOVERNMENT"

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Pennsylvania's new senator, Democrat Joseph Sill Clark, took up politics in earnest when, in his words, he found the practice of law "had no spiritual reward."

A onetime Republican, he is described by close associates as a man with a passion for good government.

Clark, himself, says his goal is primer simple — "service in government."

Defeated Duff

With an election campaign text no more complex than that, the 55-year-old Clark defeated Republican Sen. James H. Duff, a veteran in politics endorsed by President Eisenhower. Alone among the Democratic statewide candidates in Pennsylvania, Clark crested the tide of Eisenhower popularity.

During the campaign Duff made much of Clark's patrician upbringing, asserting that the Democratic candidate was a rich man pretending that his heart bled for the poor. For all his identification as a member of a well-to-do family, Clark drew much of his strength from labor and from regions, such as the hard coal fields, labeled depressed areas.

Clark did not attract national attention until 1951, when he became the first Democratic mayor of Philadelphia in 68 years.

He came into focus as a nervous, tireless type, with a zeal for civic reform and a sense of humor and an idiomatic philosophy which he fit in very well with his Harvard schooling. He talked integrity in public office, made the City Hall slogan, "good government is the best politics," came to grips with party bosses when he felt they were trying to compromise principle.

Behind the high reputation that Clark earned in four years as mayor were many less rewarding years on lower levels of political activity. He returned from World War II service in India, with the rank of lieutenant colonel, and within a few years was in the thick of a movement to revitalize and reshape the city government. He left the Republican party in 1928 because, as he said later, "it was better to be a right-wing New Dealer than a left wing conservative."

Was Deputy Attorney General

Clark's fight against what was generally regarded as a malodorous Republican rule rose to a climax from 1947 to 1951. In 1947 he backed Richardson Dilworth for mayor, a job Dilworth now holds. Dilworth lost but Clark had shaken his opponents. In 1949 Clark ran for city controller, Dilworth for city treasurer, and won with thumping majorities.

Apart from his determined effort, in and out of office, to "get the people of Philadelphia aroused." Clark's political performance has included a stint as deputy attorney general of the state in the mid-30's.

As might be expected of a top trial lawyer, Clark is an effective public speaker, if not a resounding orator.

In 1960 Picture

Tall and thin, he was made for the easy, casual, tweedy clothes he prefers, even on the job. Some people consider him an odd mixture of gaiety and grim intensity.

Many of his adherents believe Clark will serve so ably in the Senate that Democratic policymakers in 1960 may think of him as a likely choice for the vice presidency at least.

Paper Refuses To Pay Towing Charge

ASHLAND, Ky. (AP)—A subscriber of the Ashland, Ky., Independent complained last week the paper should pay the towing charge for his automobile.

The man said his paper boy failed to leave him the Wednesday edition and he didn't see the notice that the city would clean the street in front of his home that night and tow away parked cars.

The paper refused to pay the $3 bill, saying the city didn't depend upon the newspaper notices about street-cleaning schedules.

TYLER, Tex. (AP)—Bobby Manziel, 49, an oilman, a partner in the building of the million-dollar Manziel Coliseum in Tyler, died Friday.

DETROIT (AP) — Mrs. Fred T. Murphy, 78, longtime Detroit civic and social leader, and mother of Fred M. Alger, ambassador to Belgium, died Friday.

WASHINGON (AP) — The Scott Paper Co. of Chester, Pa., on Friday denied charges in a Federal Trade Commission complaint that the company violated the antitrust laws in buying three other plants.

The three companies acquired by Scott are: Soundview Pulp Co. of Everett, Wash; Detroit Sulphite Pulp and Paper Co. of Detroit, Mich.; and Hollingsworth & Whitney Co. of Boston, Mass.

MONTREAL (AP)—About 200 Hungarian Canadians demonstrated yesterday in front of the U. S. consulate here to protest "the unwillingness of the United States to give active help" to the rebels in Hungary.

ROCKET-POWER ESCAPE SEATS FOR JET PILOTS

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—A rocket-powered escape seat for pilots of supersonic jet airplanes was described today as promising them a chance to survive even in ground-level ejections.

Convair Division of General Dynamics Corp. reported tests of the rocket seat, as part of a multi-million-dollar program by the Air Force and aircraft industry to develop a standard upward pilot escape system.

The rocket seat "for the first time gives the pilot a good chance of ejecting safely from ground level in case of an emergency on takeoff or landing," said John G. Kalogeris, Convair test engineer.

Produced For Corvair

The test ejections were made from a rocket-propelled sled moving on tracks at Edwards Air Force Base, Calif. A Convair TF192A trainer jet cockpit—was used on the sled.

Even at 590 miles an hour, the rocket carried the dummy pilot clear of the trainer's vertical fin and 60 feet above it.

At 240 miles an hour sled speed, the seat was ejected 124 feet into the air. It automatically separated from the dummy, which then was parachuted undamaged to earth.

The rocket ejection seat was produced for Convair by alco Engineering Co., Inc., Hamden, Conn.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Certain Republican political defeats in the West have prompted top officials to take a "long, hard look" at the Eisenhower administration's power and natural resource policies.

An official who disclosed this yesterday said the review — "set in motion at the vice presidential and cabinet level" — is aimed at determining whether police changes are in order.

HARRISBURG (AP) — Two Pennsylvania milk dealer associations Friday urged the State Milk Control Commission to enforce regulations preventing illegal milk price discounts by some wholesalers.

"We sincerely feel that without an efficient enforcement program, no milk control law can long stand," declared Henry R. Geisinger, executive vice president of the Pennsylvania Assn. of Milk Dealers.

His position was backed up by John Martin counsel for the Philadelphia Milk Dealers Assn.

Admits Attack On Former Pa. Woman

DENVER (AP) — A Denver High School senior is being held for an attack on Miss Nancy Snider, 30, formerly of Jenkintown, Pa., a Montgomery County suburb of Philadelphia.

Detective Capt. Clifford Stanley said on Friday that 19-year-old Culver Jay Murray admitted the attack on Miss Snider as she was en route home from work at the Patricia Stevens Finishing School last Wednesday night.

Stanley quoted Murray as saying he struck her on the head, forcing her to the pavement. She was reported in critical condition due to a fractured skull.

No formal charge has been lodged against Murray. Authorities said he had a record of eight previous attacks on women.

HOMEMADE BOMBS

OTTAWA (AP)—Unknown persons hurled two flaming gasoline-filled bottles at the back porch of Soviet Ambassador Dmitri Chuvahin's residence early today but police said damage was negligible.

case, each was asked if he or she had any prejudice against Puerto Ricans.

Of the 20 jurors called this morning, eight were rejected by preemptory challenges on the part of the defense, and two by challenges by the district attorney. Four were excused by the court when they said they formed opinions in the case.

The third and fourth jurors called, Mrs. Anna McKendrick, Orrtanna, and Henry Conner, McSherrystown garageman, were also accepted.

Draws Lecture From Court

Next to be accepted was the 12th juror called, M. Hardy Nichols, Gettysburg. The 14th and 16th jurors called, Richard Lawrence, McSherrystown, and Mrs. Mae Olinger, Gettysburg, were also accepted.

The 20th juror, Gordon Smith, Hanover R. 4 farmer, caused a stir when his response to the oath given all jurors as they entered the court room was, "I don't know." He was the first juror in the recollection of court attendants present who had refused to take the oath or affirm. Asked his reason he told the court "I don't want to get on this jury." Following a lecture on the duties of citizens, Smith answered there was no reason why he could not serve. The district attorney then made his second challenge of the morning, disqualifying Smith as a juror. The court adjourned at noon after swearing in Leo Riley, Mrs. Harvey Bollinger and Mrs. Bernard Spence to serve the jurors selected. They took the six jurors in their charge to lunch as a group. The group will stay together, seperated from all others, until the case is concluded.

Pleas Of Guilty

District Attorney Daniel E. Teeter at the opening of court indicated several pleas of guilty will be forthcoming. Joseph V. Watson, Mercersburg, entered a plea to non-support of a child. Attorney Teeter said it was indicated that Delores Shultz Pierce, Breckenridge St., will enter a plea to a charge of aiding a prisoner to escape; Francis Joseph Tankosic, 44 S. Washington St., to a charge of contributing to the delinquency of minors; Glenn Gerald Matthews, McSherrystown, to a three-count morals charge.

The district attorney also reported that pleas of various types to various charges have been obtained from Howard L. Miller, Gettysburg R. 4; William Joseph Cullison, Gettysburg R. 3, and Ralph Vernon Thompson, Fourth St., in connection with the various charges each faces along with Ronald W. The second speaker of the evening, R. S. Keith, of the Ralston Purina Co., gave an illustrated talk on, "The Trends in the Hog Industry." He said, "Under present conditions, it doesn't pay to raise hogs over 200 pounds. If they are fattened over 200 pounds, much of the increase is fat and the housewife doesn't want fat anymore." He told the Young Farmers that 40 pounds of Purina Supplement would replace 400 pounds of grain. Mr. Keith said that fresh water is often unavailable on farms. A plentiful supply of fresh water, along with a good ration, will go a long way to insure success in livestock production. A hog can make the most efficient use of feed at 60 degrees Fahrenheit. Whenever the temperature goes above or below it, the hogs cannot make the best conversion from feed to meat.

case, each was asked if he or she had any prejudice against Puerto Ricans.

Of the 20 jurors called this morning, eight were rejected by preemptory challenges on the part of the defense, and two by challenges by the district attorney Four were excused by the court when they said they formed opinions in the case.

The third and fourth jurors called, Mrs. Anna McKendrick, Orrtanna, and Henry Conner, McSherrystown garageman, were also accepted.

Draws Lecture From Court

Next to be accepted was the 12th juror called, M. Hardy Nichols, Gettysburg. The 14th and 16th jurors called, Richard Lawrence, McSherrystown, and Mrs. Mae Olinger, Gettysburg, were also accepted.

The 20th juror, Gordon Smith, Hanover R. 4 farmer, caused a stir when his response to the oath given all jurors as they entered the court room was, "I don't know." He was the first juror in the recollection of court attendants present who had refused to take the oath or affirm. Asked his reason he told the court "I don't want to get on this jury." Following a lecture on the duties of citizens, Smith answered there was no reason why he could not serve. The district attorney then made his second challenge of the morning, disqualifying Smith as a juror. The court adjourned at noon after swearing in Leo Riley, Mrs. Harvey Bollinger and Mrs. Bernard Spence to serve the jurors selected. They took the six jurors in their charge to lunch as a group. The group will stay together, separated from all others, until the case is concluded.

Attorney Teeter said it was indicated that Delores Shultz Pierce, Breckenridge St., will enter a plea to a charge of aiding a prisoner to escape; Francis Joseph Tankosic, 44 S. Washington St., to a charge of contributing to the delinquency of minors; Glenn Gerald Matthews, McSherrystown, to a three-count morals charge.

The district attorney also reported that pleas of various types to various charges have been obtained from Howard L. Miller, Gettysburg R. 4; William Joseph Cullison, Gettysburg R. 3, and Ralph Vernon Thompson, Fourth St., in connection with the various charges each faces along with Ronald W. Yarmark, Aspers, in the removal of Yarmark's car from the Epley garage after it had been repossessed by a finance company.

The second speaker of the evening, R. S. Keith, of the Ralston Purina Co., gave an illustrated talk on, "The Trends in the Hog Industry." He told the Young Farmers that 40 pounds of Purina Supplement would replace 400 pounds of grain. Mr. Keith said that fresh water is often unavailable on farms. A plentiful supply of fresh water, along with a good ration, will go a long way to insure success in livestock production. A hog can make the most efficient use of feed at 60 degrees Fahrenheit. Whenever the temperature goes above or below it, the hogs cannot make the best conversion from feed to meat.

Out Of The Past

From the Files of the Star and Sentinel and The Gettysburg Times

FIFTY YEARS AGO

Great Republican Victory: The Republican victory in Pennsylvania was a great one, and we need not search for the causes which led to the tremendous triumph in the grand old Keystone State. It was a rising of the people against abuse and an emphatic resentment of the misuses of official position for partisan and political ends.

Congressman Lafean: It is a great pleasure to record the election of Hon. Daniel F. Lafean for the third term in Congress to represent this, the twentieth district. His return to Congress means that the interests of the cilzens of York and Adams county will be guarded with zealous care.

Local Miscellany: Samuel M. Bushman has contracted with Wm. H. Johns to build a one-story building in rear of the Star office, the same to be occupied as a press room. Work has been started on the foundation.

The Elks will occupy the Eberhart property on Chambersburg street in the near future.

Chrysanthemum Show A Great Success: The ladies of the Cashtown Reformed church held their annual chrysanthemum show and sale on Saturday. The attendance was larger than usual, more than 300 people attending. About 50 Gettysburgians were present. The net proceeds amounted to $100.

The Sick: Charles Bucher, of near Bonneauville, is suffering from ulcers in the right eye.

The many friends of Robert Sheads will be sorry to learn that his eye-sight has almost left him. He is also suffering from kidney and other troubles.

Mrs. John Currens, of Knoxlyn, who suffered a paralytic stroke recently, is critically ill.

Accidents: While Arthur Myers, of Idaville, who is working for the P. & R. Railroad Co., was carrying ties, one fell on his foot, badly mashing it.

Hugh, son of Jacob F. Stoner, of Highland township, recently had his one hand hurt by a corn binder.

Daniel Topper, son of Jacob L. Topper, of Emmitsburg, fell down the steps at the public school building in that place and broke his leg between the knee and ankle.

Wedding Bells: Mumford-M'Allen - "Samuel H. Mumford, of Snow Hill, Md., and Miss Margaret Roberta McAllen, of Chambersburg, Pa., were married at the Hotel Stafford, Baltimore at noon Saturday, Oct. 27th. Rev. F. I. Mumford, pastor of Cockeysville Methodist Episcopal Church, a brother of the groom, performed the ceremony.

"Mr. and Mrs. Mumford sailed on the steamer Itaska for St. Petersburg, Fla., where they will make their home."

Pate-Welty: Miss Anna Rose Welty, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thaddeus Welty, of this place, and for several years one of Gettysburg's able school teachers, now engaged in educational work in the far West, was married in Denver, Colo., on Nov. 1st, to Frederick Sylvester Pate, of that place.

Today's Talk

BLAME NO ONE

It is a characteristic move when there is an accident or some sort of failure to blame someone. Blame does little good after the event, outside its furnishing some clue that might make for safety in future cases.

But in the ordinary affairs of daily life there are always events that call for blame centered on someone. I like that statement, however, to blame no one, not even yourself. There is always a lesson that applies to all concerned when there is an accident. Most always there is too much blame and not enough intelligent analysis.

The spirit of many a person has been broken because of too much blame that wasn't deserved. Why does there have to be blame at any time anyway? There are often new discoveries that make all the difference. Perhaps no one was to blame! That is true in a number of incidents. Many a time the wrong man has been sent to jail for something that was not his fault.

There is not too much in life that is easy and without anxiety, but it has its bright days and happy moments — and these are when we have done some act that has brought a ray of hope and beauty to some discouraged life. An entire day can be all blacked out by blame passed to someone early in the day. My newspaper has been publishing the statements concerning two ships which recently crashed. Each captain seems to be trying to blame the other.

There are those who blame others for their failures or unhappiness, but they had better blame no one. It is so easy to shift responsibility, remaining blameless, but it is better to take one's medicine, no matter how bitter, and pass on. Blame no one — not even yourself!

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "Be a Plus Person"

Just Folks

SUPPOSE

Suppose you were down in the depths of despair
And all of your plans had gone wrong,
Suppose you were getting far more than your share
Of trouble as you went along;
And suppose you were thinking of quitting it all
And turning your face from the fray,
Would it rouse you a bit if your baby should call:
"Come, daddy, I'm waiting to play."

Suppose men oppressed you and jeered at your work
And never a friend came to smile,
Suppose every face that you saw seemed to smirk
In a cynical way all the while;
Suppose men maligned you wherever you went
And jostled you out of their way,
Don't you think you'd forget all your grim discontent
If your little one wanted to play?

You'd forget the harsh things that some stranger had said,
And the cynical smiles you'd not see.
You'd be wrapped in the charm of the wee curly-head
That had clambered astride of your knee,
And the velvety touch of that little fat hand
Would smooth all your furrows away.
You would vow there is nothing that you couldn't stand
For the baby who wanted to play.

LISTS 10 BASIC POINTERS FOR XMAS MAILING

In anticipation of the largest holiday mail volume in the history of the Post Office Department, the nation's chief "mailman," Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield, outlined today ten basic pointers for users of the mails to follow in order to assure prompt and safe delivery of their Christmas cards and gifts.

1. Address mail fully and clearly. Write legibly or print plainly. Where applicable, use zone numbers on the address and return address. Avoid using abbreviations which might confuse mail handlers.

2. Be certain that a return address is printed on the upper left hand corner of both Christmas cards and parcels. This will prevent any undelivered mail ending up in a "dead letter" office.

3. Do not enclose coins or hard objects of any kind in letters, without marking the envelope for hand stamping. High speed cancelling machines cannot process such letters, often jam and damage letters.

Don't Mail Cash

4. Do not mail cash in any Christmas gift. For safety's sake, use Postal Money Orders or checks.

5. Make sure parcels are well packed and securely wrapped in strong containers. Cushioning material, such as excelsior, shredded newspapers or tissue paper should be firmly placed on all sides of the Christmas gift. The carton should be wrapped in heavy paper and securely tied with strong twine.

6. Gifts of a delicate nature, such as glass, china, electrical appliances, radios and musical instruments, must be marked "Fragile" by the mailer. Food stuffs should be marked "Perishable" if subject to spoilage.

7. Insure parcels. Register letters of real value. Where only proof of delivery is required for letters of no intrinsic value use Certified Mail. Use Combination Mail where a letter or message — other than a gift tag — is to be enclosed inside a Christmas package.

Mail Early

8. Ask at any post office for the free pamphlet, "Post Office Department Publication No. 3," which contains rates of postage and limits of size and weight for domestic mail. Another free pamphlet at post offices entitled "Packaging and Wrapping Parcels For Mailing."

9. Mail Christmas cards and parcels early to avoid the last minute rush and waiting in line at the post office. The best times to avoid crowds at stamp windows in most post offices are before 10 a.m. and between 1:30 and 3:30 p.m.

10. Every postal employe is happy to answer questions on postal rules and regulations. Anyone with problems about mailing his Christmas parcels should avail himself of the opportunity of discussing the problems with postal employes, and take advantage of their experience.

Mr. Summerfield further emphasized how important it is to start planning now to shop and mail early for Christmas.

pupils from using their cars during the school day without parents' written permission.

Dr. Keefauver indicated he had brought the matter before the board only after consultation with H. Edgar Riegle, who will become Gettysburg's school superintendent January 1.

Dr. Keefauver told the directors he realized there are a number of administrative problems involved in enforcing the new rule but he is satisfied the problem can be handled with the action that was taken by the school board.

There was discussion of means of speeding up service in the cafeteria to accomodate the expected increase in the number of pupils eating there.

The traffic hazard caused by speeding cars on the school driveways during the noon hour, forming a serious traffic hazard to pupils, including many Keefauver school pupils that cross the high school area, is expected to be alleviated by the new rule. It was pointed out that police and safety patrols are on duty before and after school.

The new rule was approved without a dissenting vote, although some expressed the opinion there will be objections from local businesses who may be affected by the rule. One director said "our school children are more important than the dollars we may be taking away from some of these places."

Dr. Keefauver did not mention by name any of the "'byways" where pupils have been congregating.

Farmers Group To Seek Members

Approximately 80 members of the membership committee of the Adams County Farmers Association made plans for a drive to secure 375 members for the organization at a dinner meeting held at Trinity Evangelical Reformed Church Monday evening.

William Zepp, chairman of the membership committee, told the team captains there will be a check-up meeting Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock at the Adams Electric Cooperative building, rear of N. Stratton St., to determine which townships have received their membership goals. The organization had 297 members this year. C. M. TEL AVIV (AP)—The U.N. Relief and Works Agency has agreed with Israel to continue feeding Arab refugees in the Gaza Strip on a temporary emergency basis.

The agreement, announced by the Israel government today, was contained in an exchange of letters between Maj. Gen. Moshe Dayan, chief of staff of the Israeli army, and Henri Labouisse, director of UNRWA.

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—An estimated 200,000 Texans went to the polls today in a "mistake" election which will cost about a quarter of a million dollars.

The voting is on an amendment to the state constitution. It was intended for the ballot in last Tuesday's general election, when eight other amendments passed.

But the legislative act calling for the proposal cited the "second Tuesday in November" for the election. It should have read the "first Tuesday after the first Monday."

The amendment, if approved, will qualify nearly 15,000 permanently disabled citizens for state aid.

MELBOURNE — Hungary's nationalist flag with the Kossuth shield was raised without incident in front of the Hungarian headquarters at the Olympic Heidelberg Village.

CASTRO VALLEY, Calif. — Art Larsen, former National Amateur Tennis Champion who was injured Saturday in a motor accident, remained unconscious and in critical condition.

LAUREL, Md. — France's Master Boing $18.20) romped to a five-length victory in the $100,000 Washington International at Laurel; Master Boing was sold immediately afterward to two Americans, N. B Hunt and Edward L. Stephenson.

NEW YORK — Happy Princess ($14.30) scampered to a six and one half length triumph in the $24,100 Interborough Handicap at Jamaica.

Reservations Open For Bullet Cage Season Tickets

Reservations are now being taken for reserved seat season tickets for the 1956-1957 Gettysburg College basketball campaign, it was announced today by Henry T. Bream, athletic director.

Those desiring to make reservations for the same seats occupied in previous years must do so by December 1 at the college athletic office or at the Britcher and Bender Drug Store, Chambersburg St.

Tickets for the 10 home games are $13.50. The Bullets' first home contest will be with Elizabethtown College Monday, December 3.

LAUREL WINNER SOLD QUICKLY FOR $110,000

LAUREL, Md. (AP) — Master Boing, French winner of $70,000 in yesterday's International race, is going after American money soon as a steady diet.

The 3-year-old was sold quickly after the race for $110,000 by Andre Lombard of Paris to N. B. Hunt, Dallas oilman, and Edward L. Stephenson, Warrenton, Va., thoroughbred breeder.

The new owners already have the next $100,000 race picked out for the brown colt who showed his fine French heels to nine other horses from six countries. It is the San Juan Capistrano, a grass race like the International, March 9 at Santa Anita, Calif.

Favored American

French horses now have scored two of the most impressive victories in the International. Master Boing won by a masterful five lengths. Worden took it by six lengths in 1953.

For the fourth time in the five Internationals, the betting public of 33,615 made an American horse the favorite. This time it was Mrs. Jan Burke's Dedicate, who finished fifth.

Despite unconcealed optimism of the French camp and an advance tip on Master Boing by the astute jockey Eddie Arcaro, the winner got away at odds of $18.20

Llangollen Farm's Mister Gus of the United States was second; Prince Cortauld, an Australian campaigner making his first start for American owner Forest Smith Jr. of Los Angeles, came in third; and C. V. Whitney's Fisherman with Arcaro was fourth.

Monday's Score

Eagles 6; Warriors 0.

The Eagles nipped the Warriors, National League champions, 6-0 Monday as the Recreation Association touchball program was brought to an end.

A wind-blown punt which was recovered after bouncing off a Warrior player set the stage for the lone score of the game. The Eagles recovered a fumble on the Warriors' 20 and, after being unable to advance, kicked. Chet Schultz recovered for the Eagles on the 9 after the ball had struck a Warrior defender. A pass, Dave Minter to Vic Newman, put the ball within half a yard of the goal. After an offside penalty, Newman passed to Minter for the score.

INDIANA HIGH GAINS TITLE

PUNXSUTAWNEY, Pa. (AP) — Indiana High School reigns today as Class A champion of the Western Pennsylvania Scholastic Football Conference.

The championship was decided yesterday as Punxsutawney defeated DuBois 27-7. Although Indiana did not play, it won the title under the Saylor system of awarding points on won-lost records, caliber of opposition and comparative scores.

Indiana finished the season with a 5-0 conference record. Before yesterday's game, Tyrone was in first place with a 9-1 record and had 493 points. Indiana was second with 490 points.

Punxsutawney and DuBois were not contenders but previous games with Indiana and Tyrone were reflected in yesterday's result. Had DuBois won or tied the title would have gone to Tyrone.

Indiana's title will not be official, however, until Nov. 26 when conference representatives certify the standings at a meeting in Altoona.

BOARDMAN IS WINNER OVER PADDY DEMARCO

By RALPH BERNSTEIN

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Larry Boardman feels he could lick lightweight champion Joe Brown today but the sensational young fighter from Marlboro, Conn., says he isn't in any hurry for the title fight.

The 20-year-old Boardman says he wants to go on learning lessons like the one he picked up last night in defeating roughhouse Paddy DeMarco. He met one of the toughest tests for a young fighter — how to combat a mauler, a guy who makes you look bad even when you win.

DeMarco, the former lightweight champion from Brooklyn, used every roughhouse trick in the book. He mauled, pushed, grabbed, tackled, hit on the break and charged in his famous "billy goat" style. Referee Dave Beloff took the fourth round from Paddy for attempting to punch as Boardman fell floorward from a push.

Kept His Head

Through it all, Boardman kept his head. He smashed DeMarco with rights and lefts from long range and refused to be goaded into fighting Paddy's style. In the fifth round, the hard-punching Boardman caught DeMarco flush on the chin, sending him to the canvas.

As a result, Boardman received the unanimous vote of the two judges and the referee. The point spreads announced were 48-39, 49-41 and 49-39, an easy though perhaps costly victory for the National Boxing Assn.'s top-ranked lightweight contender.

Boardman was cut above both eyes, suffered a cheek slash and badly battered the middle knuckle of his left hand. His handlers said he'll be sidelined about eight weeks, forcing cancellation of a date in Boston three weeks hence.

Boardman weighed 140, DeMarco 143.

HAS STAKE IN ROAD BUILDING

CHICAGO (AP) — The petroleum industry has a double stake in the federal highway construction program, a publishing company executive told oilmen attending the American Petroleum Institute today.

And the project is so badly needed, said Dexter M. Keezer, vice president of McGraw-Hill Publishing Co., that it can't await economic convenience.

Keezer, one of several speakers at a group meeting of the institute, predicted that the number of motor vehicles will increase from today's 65 million to 92 million in 1971.

Use More Gas

"Thanks to increased mileage through better highways," he said in a prepared address, "it is estimated that these cars will be . . . using on the average of 250 gallons more gasoline per year than they now use."

The impact of construction itself will be the near-doubling the present annual use of 50 million barrels of asphalt on highways, Keezer told the API's division of marketing.

Consumption of petroleum products used in highway construction, he predicted, will rise from the 1955 level of 652 million gallons to 1 billion gallons in the expected peak year 1964.

Cage Loop Will Be Formed Wednesday

Teams desiring to enter the Community Basketball League for the coming season are requested to send representatives to the meeting which will be held Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock at the Recreation Association office in the Gettysburg High School building.

Discussion will be held on scheduling, fees, officials, etc., and it is important teams have representation at the meeting.

WAR TENSIONS REFLECTED AT WORLD GAMES

By MURRAY ROSE

MELBOURNE (AP) — The red, white and green nationalist flag of Hungary was raised at the Olympic Village today in an uneventful official ceremony belying the international tensions still threatening the games, scheduled to begin in nine days.

In direct contrast to yesterday's demonstration by Hungarian expatriates during which the communist Hungarian banner" was torn down and slashed with a knife, some 60 athletes and officials stood quietly as the traditional flag went up.

The chief of the Hungarian delegation, Julius Hegyi, had said earlier that the change of flag was ordered before he left his country. At the time, nationalists temporarily were in power and Hegyi said he since had received no instructions to restore the communist flag.

Other Developments

But while calm surrounded the flag-raising ceremony, there were renewed indications that the International Olympic Committee would be unable to divorce the games from world politics as it had hoped.

There were these developments:

1. A spokesman for Syria's Olympic committee said the Arab states will ask the IOC to ban Britain, France and Israel from participating in the games on the ground that "Anglo-French-Israeli tutes a serious contravention of international ethics, principles and traditions."

2. A Swedish member of the IOC admitted that five Scandinavian countries—Sweden, Norway, Finland, Denmark and Iceland—plan a meeting soon to consider the Suez crisis, but said that as of now they plan to compete.

3. Hegyi, himself, refused to answer questions on the subject of whether Hungarian athletes would compete against the Russians.

DAVIES' BROTHER ON SQUAD

Playing in the back court for this season's Gettysburg college freshman basketball team will be Dick Davies, brother of Bob Davies, the Bullets' varsity coach and former Rochester Royal great. Dick, a six-foot army veteran formerly starred for John Harris High School, Harrisburg, a member of the Central Pennsylvania Conference.

GENE FULLMER TO FIGHT SUGAR RAY ON DEC. 12

WEST JORDAN, Utah (AP)—Gene Fullmer, named for former heavyweight champ Gene Tunney and a fighter most of his life, flies to New York City today for the house of his dreams.

He meets middleweight champion Sugar Ray Robinson for the title Dec. 12 in Madison Square Garden.

Fullmer laid off his job as an apprentice welder two weeks ago and last night fed his 25 mink for the last time until he returns home.

The valuable mink are the gift of his manager Marv Jenson, who operates a large mink ranch here. Fullmer says he hopes to raise the animals full time when he retires from the ring.

Started At 8

The "Deacon" — he got his nickname in the Army because he is a member of the Latter-Day Saints (Mormon) Church and never drinks or smokes — is only 25 but has been fighting for 17 years.

"His folks decided before he was born he was to be a boy and a fighter," Jenson says. "He started fighting in exhibitions when he was 8."

Speaking of the Robinson scrap, Jenson said:

"Fullmer will be aggressive for three minutes of every round. He's going to keep the pressure on all the way. We are figuring on 15 rounds at top speed. If it stops earlier, so much the better.

"It's no secret we'll concentrate on a body attack. We won't box him — you don't box a master. We're going in there and work those 36 years off Robinson."

BULLET CAGERS TALL

Gettysburg's basketball team will boast the tallest players in the school's history this season as Bob Davies, former Rochester Royal star, begins his second year as head coach. Towering sophomores up from a 1955-56 freshman team that won 11 and lost five include 6-8 Tim Cousins, Ossining, N.Y.; 6-6 Del Warfel, Lancaster; 6-5 Frank Grzelecki, Schenectady, N.Y.; 6-3 Walt McGowan, East Lansdowne and 6-3 Harry Mohrman, Williston Park, N.Y.

Larivee And Elik Top Ice Scorers

NEW YORK (AP)—Paul Larivee of Providence tallied five points to climb into a first place tie with Bo Elik of Cleveland for the scoring leadership of the American Hockey League, according to the latest figures released today. Each has 20 points.

Elik, who had the lead all to himself last week, was able to pick up only three points but he still was tops in goal getting with 14 to Larivee's nine.

Willie Marshall of Hershey was third with 17 points and Larry Wilson of Buffalo was fourth with 16. Three players, Arnie Kullman and Floyd Smith of Hershey and Jimmy Moore of Cleveland were tied for fifth with 15. Moore's 13 assists led all the rest.

A pair of defensemen, veteran Ivan Irwin of Providence and rookie Dale Anderson of Springfield, shared the penalty lear with 40 minutes each. Johnny Bower of Providence had the lowest goaltending average, permitting an average of 2.69 goals through 13 games.

CASTRO VALLEY, Calif. — Art Larsen, former National Amateur Tennis Champion who was injured Saturday in a motor accident, remained unconscious and in critical condition.

LAUREL, Md. — France's Master Boing $18.20) romped to a five-length victory in the $100,000 Washington International at Laurel; Master Boing was sold immediately afterward to two Americans, N. B Hunt and Edward L. Stephenson.

NEW YORK — Happy Princess ($14.30) scampered to a six and one half length triumph in the $24,100 Interborough Handicap at Jamaica.

Reservations Open For Bullet Cage Season Tickets

Reservations are now being taken for reserved seat season tickets for the 1956-1957 Gettysburg College basketball campaign, it was announced today by Henry T. Bream, athletic director.

Those desiring to make reservations for the same seats occupied in previous years must do so by December 1 at the college athletic office or at the Britcher and Bender Drug Store, Chambersburg St.

Tickets for the 10 home games are $13.50. The Bullets' first home contest will be with Elizabethtown College Monday, December 3.

LAUREL WINNER SOLD QUICKLY FOR $110,000

LAUREL, Md. (AP) — Master Boing, French winner of $70,000 in yesterday's International race, is going after American money soon as a steady diet.

The 3-year-old was sold quickly after the race for $110,000 by Andre Lombard of Paris to N. B. Hunt, Dallas oilman, and Edward L. Stephenson, Warrenton, Va., thoroughbred breeder.

The new owners already have the next $100,000 race picked out for the brown colt who showed his fine French heels to nine other horses from six countries. It is the San Juan Capistrano, a grass race like the International, March 9 at Santa Anita, Calif.

Favored American

French horses now have scored two of the most impressive victories in the International. Master Boing won by a masterful five lengths. Worden took it by six lengths in 1953.

For the fourth time in the five Internationals, the betting public of 33,615 made an American horse the favorite. This time it was Mrs. Jan Burke's Dedicate, who finished fifth.

Despite unconcealed optimism of the French camp and an advance tip on Master Boing by the astute jockey Eddie Arcaro, the winner got away at odds of $18.20

Llangollen Farm's Mister Gus of the United States was second; Prince Cortauld, an Australian campaigner making his first start for American owner Forest Smith Jr. of Los Angeles, came in third; and C. V. Whitney's Fisherman with Arcaro was fourth.

The Eagles nipped the Warriors, National League champions, 6-0 Monday as the Recreation Association touchball program was brought to an end.

A wind-blown punt which was recovered after bouncing off a Warrior player set the stage for the lone score of the game. The Eagles recovered a fumble on the Warriors' 20 and, after being unable to advance, kicked. Chet Schultz recovered for the Eagles on the 9 after the ball had struck a Warrior defender. A pass, Dave Minter to Vic Newman, put the ball within half a yard of the goal. After an offside penalty, Newman passed to Minter for the score.

HARRISBURG (AP) — More than 100 trotting and pacing race horses were led to the auction block arena for today's session of the standardbred sale at the Pennsylvania Farm Show.

WAR TENSIONS REFLECTED AT WORLD GAMES

By MURRAY ROSE

MELBOURNE (AP) — The red, white and green nationalist flag of Hungary was raised at the Olympic Village today in an uneventful official ceremony belying the international tensions still threatening the games, scheduled to begin in nine days.

In direct contrast to yesterday's demonstration by Hungarian expatriates during which the communist Hungarian banner was torn down and slashed with a knife, some 60 athletes and officials stood quietly as the traditional flag went up.

The chief of the Hungarian delegation, Julius Hegyi, had said earlier that the change of flag was ordered before he left his country. At the time, nationalists temporarily were in power and Hegyi said he since had received no instructions to restore the communist flag.

Other Developments

But while calm surrounded the flag-raising ceremony, there were renewed indications that the International Olympic Committee would be unable to divorce the games from world politics as it had hoped.

There were these developments:

1. A spokesman for Syria's Olympic committee said the Arab states will ask the IOC to ban Britain, France and Israel from participating in the games on the ground that "Anglo-French-Israeli tutes a serious contravention of international ethics, principles and traditions."

2. A Swedish member of the IOC admitted that five Scandinavian countries—Sweden, Norway, Finland, Denmark and Iceland—plan a meeting soon to consider the Suez crisis, but said that as of now they plan to compete.

3. Hegyi, himself, refused to answer questions on the subject of whether Hungarian athletes would compete against the Russians.

DAVIES' BROTHER ON SQUAD

Playing in the back court for this season's Gettysburg college freshman basketball team will be Dick Davies, brother of Bob Davies, the Bullets' varsity coach and former Rochester Royal great. GENE FULLMER TO FIGHT SUGAR RAY ON DEC. 12

WEST JORDAN, Utah (AP)—Gene Fullmer, named for former heavyweight champ Gene Tunney and a fighter most of his life, flies to New York City today for the house of his dreams.

He meets middleweight champion Sugar Ray Robinson for the title Dec. 12 in Madison Square Garden.

Fullmer laid off his job as an apprentice welder two weeks ago and last night fed his 25 mink for the last time until he returns home.

The valuable mink are the gift of his manager Marv Jenson, who operates a large mink ranch here. Fullmer says he hopes to raise the animals full time when he retires from the ring.

Started At 8

The "Deacon" — he got his nickname in the Army because he is a member of the Latter-Day Saints (Mormon) Church and never drinks or smokes — is only 25 but has been fighting for 17 years.

"His folks decided before he was born he was to be a boy and a fighter," Jenson says. "He started fighting in exhibitions when he was 8."

Speaking of the Robinson scrap, Jenson said:

"Fullmer will be aggressive for three minutes of every round. He's going to keep the pressure on all the way. We are figuring on 15 rounds at top speed. If it stops earlier, so much the better.

"It's no secret we'll concentrate on a body attack. We won't box him — you don't box a master. We're going in there and work those 36 years off Robinson."

BULLET CAGERS TALL

Gettysburg's basketball team will boast the tallest players in the school's history this season as Bob Davies, former Rochester Royal star, begins his second year as head coach. Towering sophomores up from a 1955-56 freshman team that won 11 and lost five include 6-8 Tim Cousins, Ossining, N.Y.; 6-6 Del Warfel, Lancaster; 6-5 Frank Grzelecki, Schenectady, N.Y.; 6-3 Walt McGowan, East Lansdowne and 6-3 Harry Mohrman, Williston Park, N.Y.

FIFTY YEARS AGO

Great Republican Victory: The Republican victory in Pennsylvania was a great one, and we need not search for the causes which led to the tremendous triumph in the grand old Keystone State. It was a rising of the people against abuse and an emphatic resentment of the misuses of official position for partisan and political ends.

Today's Talk

BLAME NO ONE

It is a characteristic move when there is an accident or some sort of failure to blame someone. Blame does little good after the event, outside its furnishing some clue that might make for safety in future cases.

But in the ordinary affairs of daily life there are always events that call for blame centered on someone. I like that statement, however, to blame no one, not even yourself. There is always a lesson that applies to all concerned when there is an accident. Most always there is too much blame and not enough intelligent analysis.

The spirit of many a person has been broken because of too much blame that wasn't deserved. Why does there have to be blame at any time anyway? There are often new discoveries that make all the difference. Perhaps no one was to blame! That is true in a number of incidents. Many a time the wrong man has been sent to jail for something that was not his fault.

There is not too much in life that is easy and without anxiety, but it has its bright days and happy moments — and these are when we have done some act that has brought a ray of hope and beauty to some discouraged life. An entire day can be all blacked out by blame passed to someone early in the day. My newspaper has been publishing the statements concerning two ships which recently crashed. Each captain seems to be trying to blame the other.

There are those who blame others for their failures or unhappiness, but they had better blame no one. It is so easy to shift responsibility, remaining blameless, but it is better to take one's medicine, no matter how bitter, and pass on. Blame no one — not even yourself!

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "Be a Plus Person"

Just Folks

SUPPOSE

Suppose you were down in the depths of despair
And all of your plans had gone wrong,
Suppose you were getting far more than your share
Of trouble as you went along;
And suppose you were thinking of quitting it all
And turning your face from the fray,
Would it rouse you a bit if your baby should call:
"Come, daddy, I'm waiting to play."

Suppose men oppressed you and jeered at your work
And never a friend came to smile,
Suppose every face that you saw seemed to smirk
In a cynical way all the while;
Suppose men maligned you wherever you went
And jostled you out of their way,
Don't you think you'd forget all your grim discontent
If your little one wanted to play?

You'd forget the harsh things that some stranger had said,
And the cynical smiles you'd not see.
You'd be wrapped in the charm of the wee curly-head
That had clambered astride of your knee,
And the velvety touch of that little fat hand
Would smooth all your furrows away.
You would vow there is nothing that you couldn't stand
For the baby who wanted to play.

LISTS 10 BASIC POINTERS FOR XMAS MAILING

In anticipation of the largest holiday mail volume in the history of the Post Office Department, the nation's chief "mailman," Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield, outlined today ten basic pointers for users of the mails to follow in order to assure prompt and safe delivery of their Christmas cards and gifts.

1. Address mail fully and clearly. Write legibly or print plainly Where applicable, use zone numbers on the address and return address. Avoid using abbreviations which might confuse mail handlers.

2. Be certain that a return address is printed on the upper left hand corner of both Christmas cards and parcels. This will prevent any undelivered mail ending up in a "dead letter" office.

3. Do not enclose coins or hard objects of any kind in letters, without marking the envelope for hand stamping. High speed cancelling machines cannot process such letters, often jam and damage letters.

Don't Mail Cash

4. Do not mail cash in any Christmas gift. For safety's sake, use Postal Money Orders or checks.

5. Make sure parcels are well packed and securely wrapped in strong containers. Cushioning material, such as excelsior, shredded newspapers or tissue paper should be firmly placed on all sides of the Christmas gift. The carton should be wrapped in heavy paper and securely tied with strong twine.

6. Gifts of a delicate nature, such as glass, china, electrical appliances, radios and musical instruments, must be marked "Fragile" by the mailer. Food stuffs should be marked "Perishable" if subject to spoilage.

7. Insure parcels. Register letters of real value. Where only proof of delivery is required for letters of no intrinsic value use Certified Mail. Use Combination Mail where a letter or message — other than a gift tag — is to be enclosed inside a Christmas package.

Mail Early

8. Ask at any post office for the free pamphlet, "Post Office Department Publication No. 3," which contains rates of postage and limits of size and weight for domestic mail. Another free pamphlet at post offices entitled "Packaging and Wrapping Parcels For Mailing."

9. Mail Christmas cards and parcels early to avoid the last minute rush and waiting in line at the post office. The best times to avoid crowds at stamp windows in most post offices are before 10 a.m. and between 1:30 and 3:30 p.m.

10. Every postal employe is happy to answer questions on postal rules and regulations. Anyone with problems about mailing his Christmas parcels should avail himself of the opportunity of discussing the problems with postal employes, and take advantage of their experience.

Mr. Summerfield further emphasized how important it is to start planning now to shop and mail early for Christmas.

Hammarskjold's announcement yesterday that the Egyptians had agreed to admit the U.N. police was followed up last night by Egypt's Middle East News Agency with a report of five conditions to which it said the secretary general had agreed.

There was no immediate official comment from Britain on these conditions, but the British press labeled them "impossible."

Some of the British papers said the "Egyptian dictator" was acting as if he had won the two-day battle in which British and French forces seized the northern third of the Suez Canal.

YWCA AND PTA

dinners had been served during October.

Mrs. Conway S. Williams, YWCA secretary, announced that there were 119 meetings with 1,379 persons in attendance during October. There were 73 volunteer workers, she said.

Mrs. Blackburn, public affairs chairman, announced an open meeting Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Y when H. Edgar Riegle, Adams County superintendent of schools, will discuss "Federal Aid for Public Schools." Mrs. Louise Stanton will represent the board at the Women's Civic Council at the Friday meeting at the Y. On Wednesday the board will be represented at a dinner given by the Adams County Council of Community Services.

Mrs. Wayne Keet, house chairman, reported that she and Mrs. C. A. Wills met recently with the advisory committee to inspect the Y building and to discuss the renovation project. Miss Lentz donated napkins for the membership meeting and the Wayside Flower Shop gave a centerpiece for the tea table for the occasion.

Mrs. McDonnell reported on the bus trip to Washington Sunday to visit the National Cathedral. Miss Rebecca Sachs reported for the Business and Professional Women's Club and the Annie Danner Club. She thanked board members for their cooperation at the recent conference at the Y.

Mrs. Robert Fortenbaugh presided in the absence of Mrs. John S. Rice, president. Devotionals were led by Mrs. Louise Stanton. Mrs. J. Albert Blackburn read the secretary's report and Mrs. Edwin H. Johnson gave the treasurer's report.

January 1.

Dr. Keefauver told the directors he realized there are a number of administrative problems involved in enforcing the new rule but he is satisfied the problem can be handled with the action that was taken by the school board.

There was discussion of means of speeding up service in the cafeteria to accomodate the expected increase in the number of pupils eating there.

The traffic hazard caused by speeding cars on the school driveways during the noon hour, forming a serious traffic hazard to pupils, including many Keefauver school pupils that cross the high school area, is expected to be alleviated by the new rule. It was pointed out that police and safety patrols are on duty before and after school.

The new rule was approved without a dissenting vote, although some expressed the opinion there will be objections from local businesses who may be affected by the rule. One director said "our school children are more important than the dollars we may be taking away from some of these places."

Dr. Keefauver did not mention by name any of the "byways" where pupils have been congregating.

Roger's Sunoco Service Center was recently opened at 687 York St., with a ribbon-cutting ceremony by Burgess William G. Weaver.

Approximately 80 members of the membership committee of the Adams County Farmers Association made plans for a drive to secure 375 members for the organization at a dinner meeting held at Trinity Evangelical Reformed Church Monday evening.

William Zepp, chairman of the membership committee, told the team captains there will be a check-up meeting Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock at the Adams Electric Cooperative building, rear of N. Stratton St., to determine which townships have received their membership goals. The organization had 297 members this year. C. M. Wilson, secretary of the Pennsylvania Farmers Association, will speak Thursday night.

George Stock, New Oxford R. D., president of the farmers association, presided at Monday night's dinner session. Wilbert Smith, Frederick, area representative of the Maryland Farm Bureau, outlined the work of the National Farm Bureau with which the Pennsylvania and Adams County Farmers Associations are affiliated.

TEL AVIV (AP)—The U.N. Relief and Works Agency has agreed with Israel to continue feeding Arab refugees in the Gaza Strip on a temporary emergency basis.

The agreement, announced by the Israel government today, was contained in an exchange of letters between Maj. Gen. Moshe Dayan, chief of staff of the Israeli army, and Henri Labouisse, director of UNRWA.

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—An estimated 200,000 Texans went to the polls today in a "mistake" election which will cost about a quarter of a million dollars.

The voting is on an amendment to the state constitution. It was intended for the ballot in last Tuesday's general election, when eight other amendments passed.

But the legislative act calling for the proposal cited the "second Tuesday in November" for the election. It should have read the "first Tuesday after the first Monday."

The amendment, if approved, will qualify nearly 15,000 permanently disabled citizens for state aid.

The board recommended to borough council the re-appointment of Arthur E. Hutchison as a member of the Gettysburg School Authority.

A letter of thanks was read from the Good Samaritan lodge of the Masons for use of the high school cafeteria for a recent banquet held there by the Masons.

Dr. R. D. Wickerham, board president, reported to the directors that hot water heaters recently ordered for the Lincoln and Meade Schools have been installed and are in use there. He reported "progress" in the improvement of lighting in the high school gymnasium and said social security forms are being completed to place cafeteria workers under the federal program.

Kenneth G. Reinhart Jr., board secretary, reported that the Stenger Music House of Hanover has presented to the high school band a set of chimes worth $472 on the basis of a two-year accumulation of "credits" for instruments bought there by local pupils. The band also bought a bassoon for $395, he added.

Adams County Agricultural Extension Association Marks 40th Year

Program At Biglerville Grade School Wednesday To Celebrate Anniversary And Note Progress

The Adams County Agricultural Extension Association Wednesday night will observe its 40th anniversary with a program at Biglerville Elementary School.

And, to a large extent, the anniversary will be marking the fourth decade of a revolution that has changed the life of farmers more greatly than any similar period in mankind's history.

From 1876 to the early 1900s the farmers' way of life had changed little. And there had been little change in farming from 1836 to 1876. The farm houses had grown larger, barns were larger, the kerosene lamp had replaced the tallow candle. The coal or wood stove had replaced the open fireplace. But basically farming remained much as it had been.

But 1916, year of the founding of the agricultural extension association in Adams County, marked the beginning of changes that brought more comfort to the farmers, unheard of equipment, mechanization of farm work, the disappearance of the horse, and made city and country one, as far as conveniences, mobility and communication were concerned. It was a forty-year period that brought revolutionary changes, many within the last 20 years.

Aids, Tests, Informs

Aiding, testing, informing and sometimes promoting the changes has been the work of Agricultural Extension in the county over the 40-year period. And in its work it has touched the lives of every person in the county directly or indirectly by helping countians do a better job—both on the farm and in the home.

The educational work of agricultural education began with the Smith-Lever Act that set it up in 1914 but Adams County, following its usual custom, was not the first to rush into an extension program.

The report of the president of Pennsylvania State College in 1916 shows that by July 1, 1915, a total of 14 counties had "extension representatives and farm bureaus." The report shows that "during this year," from July 1, 1915, to 1916, "there have been 21 counties working; 15 additional counties will be organized by July 1, 1916." The report also shows that Adams County was not one of those that was going to be completely organized and ready to go by that July 1, 1916, deadline.

"Took Kindly To Idea"

Back on Page Three of the Gettysburg Times of April 15, 1916, an article—three paragraphs in length—gave some indication that there were stirrings toward establishment of an extension program in the county. The editor, Philip R. Bikle, wrote: "The farmers and fruit growers present at Saturday afternoon's session in the court house took kindly to the farm advisor plan outlined by Prof. Frederick Weaver of State College and determined to hold a meeting to consider the matter still further. The committee to arrange for the meeting is C. J. Tyson, Edward A. Trostle, W. E. Grove, Edward F. Strausbaugh and E. A. Seabrook.

"The salary of the farm advisor is paid by the United States, but the expenses of the office—amounting to $1,000 or $1,500 annually—are met by the county."

The third paragraph gave the next meeting, May 13, and the appointment of R. M. Eldon as temporary president and C. J. Tyson as temporary secretary.

Plany County Program

May 16, 1916, The Times reported under the headline "For Farm Demonstrator": "An expert in farm work from the state agricultural college was on hand at the meeting held in the court house Saturday evening. He explained to a small and interested audience the benefits that might be derived from having a farm demonstrator located in the county.

"The meeting was held at the instigation of Tyson Brothers, Inc., and a few other progressive farmers for the purpose of taking definite steps to securing such an advisor.

"Officers for permanent organization were elected and they will take the matter before the commissioners at an early date.

Wartime Problems

"They are: President, J. L. Butt; vice president, E. F. Strausbaugh; secretary, George M. Rice; treasurer, W. H. Stock; executive committee, S. M. Keagy, Prof. H. Milton Roth, John Menges and Harry Stitzell."

Apparently the committee "took the matter before the commissioners" because in 1917 H. F. Hershey became the Adams County farm agent, and continued in that position until August, 1919, when he resigned.

The period was marked by a steep rise in the number of cars on the road, a wartime shortage of help, many problems—and much prosperity on the part of the farmers. The auto dealers in the area reported that during "the last several years" farmers had been purchasing more and more cars, and by 1920 had "shifted from favoring the lower priced cars to autos in the higher priced fields."

Had Many Plans

The minutes of the "executive committee of the Adams County Farm Bureau" on February 7, 1919, show that "the cow testing association plan was discussed. Bull associations were discussed. It is Mr. Hershey's plan to establish a number of hog pastures to be used for demonstrations. It was brought out that if we are to compete with foreign countries in the production of pork it will be up to us to study more economical methods of production."

The minutes also shows that "Fruit growers' conditions were taken up and discussed. Farm products show was taken up and favorably passed upon."

And "it was decided to take the Farm Bureau program into different sections of the county and the line of work that appeals to these particular localities will be taken up and worked out. Meetings to this end were mapped out for Fairfield, February 18; Hampton, 19; Gettysburg, 20, and Two Taverns, 21."

The minutes show that the "program as outlined by County Agent Hershey for the present year" was adopted.

Buy Car For Agent

The minutes of March 19, 1919, show that it was "moved and seconded that the secretary be authorized to purchase a Ford touring car with speedometer for use of the county agent." It was not indicated whether the speedometer was to check the county agent's speed — or mileage.

August 26, 1919, the board met and asked State College to select a successor to Mr. Hershey, "to be available about the first of the year."

Mr. Hershey apparently had done his work well, and the county was anxious for the work of the extension agent because the March 18, 1920, edition of The Gettysburg Times carried this story under the heading, "New Farm Agent Named For Adams":

Second Agent Named

"Adams County will again have the services of a farm agent according to an announcement made by the farm bureau Wednesday evening. Paul Hoffman, of Somerset county, a graduate of State College, has been appointed as agent for the county by the State College Farm Extension Bureau, and he has accepted the position.

"Mr. Hoffman will be in Gettysburg Friday at which time he will meet the members of the county farm bureau at a special session to be held in the offices of J. L. Butt, Esq. The meeting will be in the form of an informal conference in which general farm conditions will be discussed.

Without Agent 9 Months

"The county has been without the services of a farm agent for nearly nine months. H. F. Hershey, former agent, resigned his position last August to accept the position as manager of large apple and peach orchards in Bucks county.

"As proof of the fact that the farm agent is accepted by the farmers in this section as a valuable asset, barely a week has passed since Mr. Hershey left but that numerous calls have come to the office of the Superintendent of Schools adjoining the farm agent's office asking when another man would be appointed. Since the departure of Mr. Hershey the local farm bureau has been endeavoring to find a successor.

"Although at first many agriculturists looked upon the college trained farmer as a theorist and not worth much as a practical advisor the attitude of the tillers of the soil in this county has changed and the great majority will welcome the installation of a new agent.

"In January the county farm bureau asked the county commissioners to appropriate a sum sufficient to pay the expenses of a farm agent in the event they were successful in securing one."

Hoffman Begins Work

On March 20, 1920, The Gettysburg Times reported under the headline "Farm Agent Met Committee Men": "Preliminary plans of the work he will soon start to carry on in Adams county were discussed Friday afternoon by Paul Hoffman, new farm agent, with the executive committee of the Farm Bureau.

"The meeting which was held in the office of J. L. Butt, Esq., gave only an inkling of the results that are expected to be achieved by cooperation of the farmers and their agent, but at the smae time provide opportunity for an exchange of ideas which will eventually prove beneficial to both Mr. Hoffman and his helpers.

"Among the topics considered were the importance and necessity of establishing hog pasture demonstrations, corn variety tests, cow testing associations, and hog breeding associations as well as general improvement of all live stock including Holstein cattle which was of special interest to members of the Holstein Breeders Association present at the meeting.

"Various communities where these demonstrations will be held and men who will be chosen to aid the Farm Bureau were also considered.

"Professor F. P. Weaver, of the extension department of Pennsylvania College, was present at the gathering to express his views to E. F. Strausbaugh, president; John C. Bream, secretary; G. W. Koser, treasurer; J. L. Butt, Esq., Frank Waybright and Professor H. Milton Roth of the executive committee.

"Mr. Hoffman left Gettysburg immediately after the meeting but will return the early part of next week to assume his duties as farm agent of Adams county."

The board of directors of the agricultural Extension Association numbers 18—plus ex officio, the county superintendent of schools, the three county commissioners, the president of the Senior Extension Club and the president of the Adams County 4-H council. Shown in the accompanying picture is a part of the board, seated, left to right, Robert Lott, Aspers R. 1; Ralph Tyson, Gardners R. 1; G. Roscoe Worley, Hanover R. 4; Myles Starner, Aspers R. 1, president; standing, left to right, Mrs. Herbert Zepp, Gettysburg R. 4; Mrs. Clarence Shultz, Taneytown R. 1, secretary, and Mrs. Emory Gitt, Littlestown R. 1.

Penn State U. Honors Tyson

C. J. Tyson, late of Flora Dale, one of the founders of Agricultural Extension in the county and the temporary chairman of the committee organizing the program 40 years ago, was a trustee at Pennsylvania State University and this year the new plant industries building at the university was named Tyson Hall in his honor.

Mr. Tyson served on the Board of Trustees of the university from 1912 to 1938, including 14 years as a member of its executive committee. He took an active part in agricultural developments and served in many capacities among which was the presidency of the State Horticultural Association of Pennsylvania.

HIGHLIGHTS FROM FIRST FARM AGENT'S REPORT IN 1920

The first annual Adams County farm agent's report still available in the local files is that presented to the then "Farm Bureau," now the "Agricultural Extension Association" of the county, by County Agent Paul Hoffman in 1920.

Following are highlights from that report:

The Adams County Farm Bureau is not on paid membership basis. Any person, a resident of the county or owning farm land in the county, who is interested and willing to aid in the development of the agriculture of the county may become a member of the Farm Bureau by agreeing to its constitution.

The officers of the Farm Bureau are a president, vice president, secretary and treasurer, all of whom shall be elected for a period of one year and who shall serve without pay until their successors shall be elected.

The Executive Committee consists of the four officers named, the county superintendent of schools and four elective members elected at the annual election of officers. A quorum of the Executive Committee consists of five members. The Executive Committee has power to fill such vacancies as may occur in any office or committee, and to transact the business of the association.

The general policies of the Farm Bureau are to aid the development of agriculture in all its phases and such allied industries as may properly come in its providence. The relationship of the Farm Bureau with other existing organizations in the county have been very cordial. We have secured the undivided cooperation of all organizations and are working together on many problems. The Grange, the schools, the business men's organizations and the county newspaper are all giving active support to the Farm Bureau.

HAVE MINUTES OF FIRST 1956 MEETINGS FOR "FARM BUREAU"

The Adams County Agricultural Extension Association came into existence in 1916, as the Adams County Farm Bureau. It changed its name to Agricultural Extension Association January 3, 1924.

Minutes of the first two meetings of the "Farm Bureau" give a concise and interesting account of how the now 40-year-old organization came into existence.

The minutes of the April 11, 1916, and May 13, 1916, meetings follow:

First Meeting's Minutes

"A meeting under the auspices of the county superintendents of schools was held at the courthouse, Gettysburg, Saturday afternoon, April 11th. Last on the program was an address by Mr. F. P. Weaver of State College, on the Farm Bureau Work. The subject was ably presented and met with enthusiastic response from the comparatively small number of farmers present.

"At the close of the meeting an extra session was convened, temporary officers chosen and the question of organizing an Adams County Farm Bureau was discussed. A motion was put and carried in favor of a County Agent for Adams County, and the organization of a Farm Bureau for that purpose. A committee of five was appointed to draft a constitution for presentation and consideration at the next meeting. Then adjourned until May 13th, at 7:30 p.m." Signed, R. M. Eldon, Temp. Pres., J. J. Tyson, Temp. Sec.

Minutes Of May Meeting

"The Adams County Farm Bureau convened in adjourned session at 7:30 p.m., May 13th, 1916. Minutes of a previous meeting April 11th were read and approved.

"Prof. E. K. Hibshman, of State College, was introduced and made a clear and concise statement of the Farm Bureau and County Agent plan. The following points were brought out clearly: That through the personal work of extension representatives or county agents, as they are called, the results of Experiment Station work could be made of practical use to the man on the farm; That real definite projects are developed and carried out by the county agents; such as oat smut treatment, seed selection, figuring balanced rations and fertilizer mixtures, assisting in the control of insect and plant diseases, organizing cow testing associations and boys' and girls' club: That only meant who have been country boys with farm experience are given these positions, and in addition, they must be graduates of a good Agricultural College: That these men do not give advice to anyone unless it is asked for, and in the counties longest organized they find their time fully occupied taking care of actual requests for help and no time left for volunteer work. That in this work the State College and the Federal Department of Agriculture pays the salary of the man, while the county pays his office and transportation expenses, which have been found to run close to $1,500 for the first year. That in most counties of the state this amount is appropriated by the County Commissioners who are authorized to do so by Act of Assembly. That already twenty-one counties of the state have county agents working, and that fifteen more will be started by July 1st, 1916.

First Officers Named

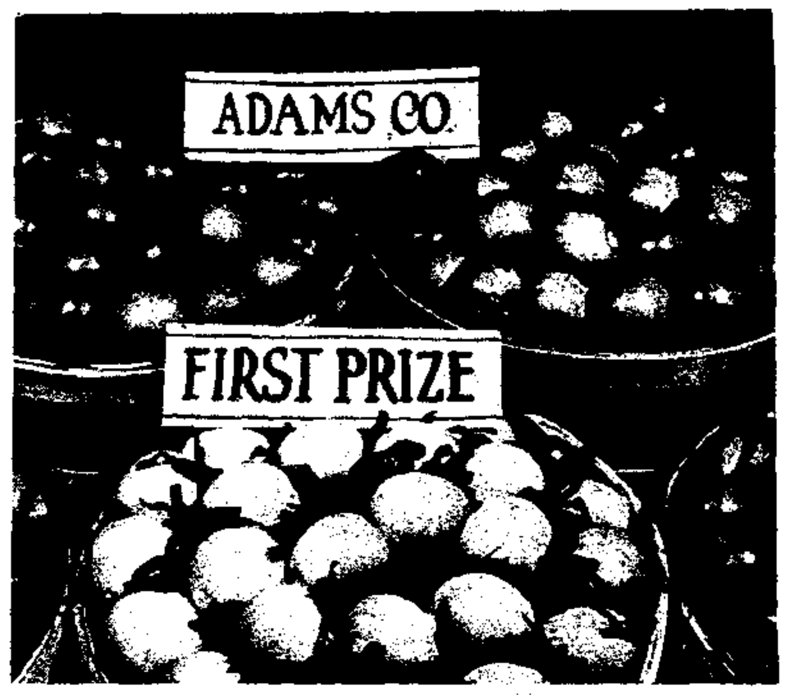
"That in this way and no other can Adams County secure part of the money appropriated by the United States Government under the so-called Smith-Lever Act. That the demand for county agents is already in excess of the funds available, and that future agents will be placed in the order in whioh counties organize Farm Bureaus and certify to the Extension Department of Pennsylvania State College that the sum of fifteen hundred dollars or its equivalent has been provided for the first year's expenses.

"Following this address the committee appointed at last meeting proposed the following form of constitution for an Adams County Farm Bureau, which was read and unanimously adopted as a whole.

"As a committee to nominate permanent officers, E. A. Trostel, W. S. Adams, C. A. Hershey, Calvin Rudisill, W. E. Grove, W. H. Stock and Charles Bucher were appointed. After a short recess they reported as follow: for Pres. J. L. Butt, V. Pres. E. F. Strasbaugh, Sec. C J Tyson, Treas C. A. Hershey. Executive Committee, W. H. Stock, Harry Stitzel, John Menges, Samuel Keagy. At the request of C. J. Tyson, and on motion, his name was withdrawn as Secretary and that of George M. Rice was substituted. Further nomination were called for but none offered.

"On motion, the temporary Secretary cast the ballot of the Adams County Farm Bureau for the above named nominees, and they were declared elected for the ensuing year, with the addition of H. M. Roth, County Superintendent of Schools, who is made a member of the Executive Committee by the constitution. Adjourned." C. J. Tyson, Temp. Sec.

Bees became an important factor in Adams County when the number of fruit trees far outgrew the number of bees normally in the county. The Extension Association pushed the need of bees for pollination and hre a group is shown with Glenn Slaybaugh, Biglerville, in front holding part of a hive and E. J. Anderson, in white shirt, vest and hat, State College extension bee specialist, giving details on how to handle the insects.



This picture is from the "good old days" when Adams County apples won first prize time after time at the State Farm Show at Harrisburg. In more recent years the competition has become specially keen and Adams, while the biggest grower of apples and probably the most successful financially, has had difficulty in obtaining better than second place in the state show.

Beaten egg whites folded into applesauce give a fluffy snowy dessert children usually enjoy.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES

4-H BABY BEEF CLUB IS OLDEST IN THIS COUNTY

Adams County's oldest 4-H Club, the Baby Beef group that started in 1925, still is one of the major "junior" agriculture 4-H groups in the county, but its supremacy is threatened by equally active groups in dairy and other agricultural pursuits. The 4-H clubs are for boys and girls between the ages of 10 and 20.

The Adams County Agricultural Extension Association has been sponsoring "junior groups" throughout its history. Early records show a "Junior Swine Club" in the first year.

But the Baby Beef club is the first to have the title 4-H added to it, in the 1926 report of the county agent, and apparently it was "the" club at that time. Swine and other clubs continued to progress through the years.

County Council Farmer

Beef, gardening, swine, corn and similar clubs seemed dominant in agricultural 4-H until 1945 when the Dairy Calf club came into existence and proved highly successful. Within the last two years, in addition to the community clubs and beef and dairy, conservation has been added as a new type of 4-H club.

Through the years the 4-H clubs have carried on many county wide activities and as a result a 4-H County Council was formed several years ago to head up joint activities.

The agricultural 4-H clubs today cover many activities. Among the more than 300 members, 11 are engaged in conservation studies, ten raise strawberries, ten raise corn, 33 have gardens, 24 pigs, two broilers, two ducks, seven study entomology, 43 raise flowers, five capons, ten chicks, 41 beef, six hens, four potatoes, two sows, three tomatoes, five rabbits, two sheeps, one turkey, one pheasant, three sweet corn, two bees, and 30 are in the dairy calf club.

In addition there are 50 in the Senior Extension Club, and 15 in tractor maintenance work.

The current 4-H agricultural clubs, their presidents and number of members, follow:

County clubs, Baby Beef, Janet Hay, 37; Dairy calf, Russell Grove Jr., 30; Conservation, Garnet Coble Jr., 12; tractor maintenance, Neil Lott, 15.

Community clubs, Aspers, Parker Coble, 38; York Springs, Carl Hikes, 35; Pleasant Joy, Barry Breighner, 11; Horticultural Buds, Shirley Sterner, 18; Southern Adams, Jon Newman, 16; New Oxford, Arlan Reynolds, 12; South Mountain, Ann Lott, 11; Stone Jug, David Sibert, 14.

The minutes of the April 11, 1916, and May 13, 1916, meetings follow:

"At the close of the meeting an extra session was convened, temporary officers chosen and the question of organizing an Adams County Farm Bureau was discussed. A motion was put and carried in favor of a County Agent for Adams County, and the organization of a Farm Bureau for that purpose. A committee of five was appointed to draft a constitution for presentation and consideration at the next meeting. Then adjourned until May 13th, at 7:30 p.m." Signed, R. M. Eldon, Temp. Pres., J. J. Tyson, Temp. Sec.

Minutes Of May Meeting

"The Adams County Farm Bureau convened in adjourned session at 7:30 p.m., May 13th, 1916. Minutes of a previous meeting April 11th were read and approved.

"Prof. E. K. Hibshman, of State College, was introduced and made a clear and concise statement of the Farm Bureau and County Agent plan. The following points were brought out clearly: That through the personal work of extension representatives or county agents, as they are called, the results of Experiment Station work could be made of practical use to the man on the farm; That real definite projects are developed and carried out by the county agents; such as oat smut treatment, seed selection, figuring balanced rations and fertilizer mixtures, assisting in the control of insect and plant diseases, organizing cow testing associations and boys' and girls' club: That only meant who have been country boys with farm experience are given these positions, and in addition, they must be graduates of a good Agricultural College: That these men do not give advice to anyone unless it is asked for, and in the counties longest organized they find their time fully occupied taking care of actual requests for help and no time left for volunteer work. That in this work the State College and the Federal Department of Agriculture pays the salary of the man, while the county pays his office and transportation expenses, which have been found to run close to $1,500 for the first year. That in most counties of the state this amount is appropriated by the County Commissioners who are authorized to do so by Act of Assembly. That already twenty-one counties of the state have county agents working, and that fifteen more will be started by July 1st, 1916.

First Officers Named

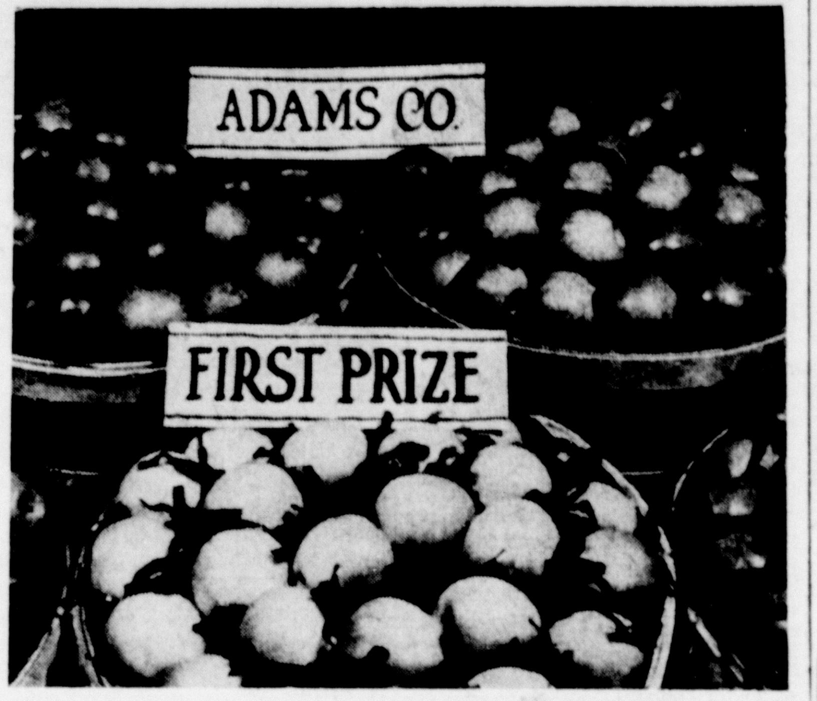
"That in this way and no other can Adams County secure part of the money appropriated by the United States Government under the so-called Smith-Lever Act. That the demand for county agents is already in excess of the funds available, and that future agents will be placed in the order in which counties organize Farm Bureaus and certify to the Extension Department of Pennsylvania State College that the sum of fifteen hundred dollars or its equivalent has been provided for the first year's expenses.

"Following this address the committee appointed at last meeting proposed the following form of constitution for an Adams County Farm Bureau, which was read and unanimously adopted as a whole.

"As a committee to nominate permanent officers, E. A. Trostel, W. S. Adams, C. A. Hershey, Calvin Rudisill, W. E. Grove, W. H. Stock and Charles Bucher were appointed. After a short recess they reported as follow: for Pres. J. L. Butt, V. Pres. E. F. Strasbaugh, Sec. C J Tyson, Treas C. A. Hershey. Executive Committee, W. H. Stock, Harry Stitzel, John Menges, Samuel Keagy. At the request of C. J. Tyson, and on motion, his name was withdrawn as Secretary and that of George M. Rice was substituted. Further nomination were called for but none offered.

"On motion, the temporary Secretary cast the ballot of the Adams County Farm Bureau for the above named nominees, and they were declared elected for the ensuing year, with the addition of H. M. Roth, County Superintendent of Schools, who is made a member of the Executive Committee by the constitution. Adjourned." C. J. Tyson, Temp. Sec.

Bees became an important factor in Adams County when the number of fruit trees far outgrew the number of bees normally in the county. The Extension Association pushed the need of bees for pollination and hre a group is shown with Glenn Slaybaugh, Biglerville, in front holding part of a hive and E. J. Anderson, in white shirt, vest and hat, State College extension bee specialist, giving details on how to handle the insects.



This picture is from the "good old days" when Adams County apples won first prize time after time at the State Farm Show at Harrisburg. In more recent years the competition has become specially keen and Adams, while the biggest grower of apples and probably the most successful financially, has had difficulty in obtaining better than second place in the state show.

Beaten egg whites folded into applesauce give a fluffy snowy dessert children usually enjoy.

Mrs. Rose Murren, Hanover R. 4, was the first woman ever to be named a Master Farmer, the state award given only to the outstanding agriculturists in the state. Other countians who have won the honor include the late Harry E. Brown, of Fairfield; John Menges, McSherrystown; Roy Heckenluber, Biglerville R. D., and William M. Lott, Gardners R. D.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES

4-H BABY BEEF CLUB IS OLDEST IN THIS COUNTY

Adams County's oldest 4-H Club, the Baby Beef group that started in 1925, still is one of the major "junior" agriculture 4-H groups in the county, but its supremacy is threatened by equally active groups in dairy and other agricultural pursuits. The 4-H clubs are for boys and girls between the ages of 10 and 20.

The Adams County Agricultural Extension Association has been sponsoring "junior groups" throughout its history. Early records show a "Junior Swine Club" in the first year.

But the Baby Beef club is the first to have the title 4-H added to it, in the 1926 report of the county agent, and apparently it was "the" club at that time. Swine and other clubs continued to progress through the years.

County Council Farmer

Beef, gardening, swine, corn and similar clubs seemed dominant in agricultural 4-H until 1945 when the Dairy Calf club came into existence and proved highly successful. Within the last two years, in addition to the community clubs and beef and dairy, conservation has been added as a new type of 4-H club.

Through the years the 4-H clubs have carried on many county wide activities and as a result a 4-H County Council was formed several years ago to head up joint activities.

The agricultural 4-H clubs today cover many activities. Among the more than 300 members, 11 are engaged in conservation studies, ten raise strawberries, ten raise corn, 33 have gardens, 24 pigs, two broilers, two ducks, seven study entomology, 43 raise flowers, five capons, ten chicks, 41 beef, six hens, four potatoes, two sows, three tomatoes, five rabbits, two sheeps, one turkey, one pheasant, three sweet corn, two bees, and 30 are in the dairy calf club.

In addition there are 50 in the Senior Extension Club, and 15 in tractor maintenance work.

The current 4-H agricultural clubs, their presidents and number of members, follow:

County clubs, Baby Beef, Janet Hay, 37; Dairy calf, Russell Grove Jr., 30; Conservation, Garnet Coble Jr., 12; tractor maintenance, Neil Lott, 15.

Community clubs, Aspers, Parker Coble, 38; York Springs, Carl Hikes, 35; Pleasant Joy, Barry Breighner, 11; Horticultural Buds, Shirley Sterner, 18; Southern Adams, Jon Newman, 16; New Oxford, Arlan Reynolds, 12; South Mountain, Ann Lott, 11; Stone Jug, David Sibert, 14.

Are you sure you're getting the full egg production potential from your flock? If you are not feeding a ration energized with animal fat, the chances are you're missing it.
Paramount Rations were the first in this area to offer poultrymen the advantages of modern energized feeding. We know a feed must be good to get the most out of your flock. That's why we were first to feature Energy in our feeds three years ago.
To be economical a feed must be priced right and Paramount Poultry Rations consistently suit your pocketbook best.
If you are beginning to feel that the costly overhead and advertising premiums included in commercial feed prices are too high, we invite you to consult us about Paramount Rations or about converting your grains into finished feeds.
Consult us about any poultry feeding problem.

Adams County Agricultural Extension Association Marks 40th Year

Program At Biglerville Grade School Wednesday To Celebrate Anniversary And Note Progress

The Adams County Agricultural Extension Association Wednesday night will observe its 40th anniversary with a program at Biglerville Elementary School.

And, to a large extent, the anniversary will be marking the fourth decade of a revolution that has changed the life of farmers more greatly than any similar period in mankind's history.

From 1876 to the early 1900s the farmers' way of life had changed little. And there had been little change in farming from 1836 to 1876. The farm houses had grown larger, barns were larger, the kerosene lamp had replaced the tallow candle. The coal or wood stove had replaced the open fireplace. But basically farming remained much as it had been.

But 1916, year of the founding of the agricultural extension association in Adams County, marked the beginning of changes that brought more comfort to the farmers, unheard of equipment, mechanization of farm work, the disappearance of the horse, and made city and country one, as far as conveniences, mobility and communication were concerned. It was a forty-year period that brought revolutionary changes, many within the last 20 years.

Aids, Tests, Informs

Aiding, testing, informing and sometimes promoting the changes has been the work of Agricultural Extension in the county over the 40-year period. And in its work it has touched the lives of every person in the county directly or indirectly by helping countians do a better job—both on the farm and in the home.

The educational work of agricultural education began with the Smith-Lever Act that set it up in 1914 but Adams County, following its usual custom, was not the first to rush into an extension program.

The report of the president of Pennsylvania State College in 1916 shows that by July 1, 1915, a total of 14 counties had "extension representatives and farm bureaus." The report shows that "during this year," from July 1, 1915, to 1916, "there have been 21 counties working; 15 additional counties will be organized by July 1, 1916." The report also shows that Adams County was not one of those that was going to be completely organized and ready to go by that July 1, 1916, deadline.

"Took Kindly To Idea"

Back on Page Three of the Gettysburg Times of April 15, 1916, an article—three paragraphs in length—gave some indication that there were stirrings toward establishment of an extension program in the county. The editor, Philip R. Bikle, wrote: "The farmers and fruit growers present at Saturday afternoon's session in the court house took kindly to the farm advisor plan outlined by Prof. Frederick Weaver of State College and determined to hold a meeting to consider the matter still further. The committee to arrange for the meeting is C. J. Tyson, Edward A. Trostle, W. E. Grove, Edward F. Strausbaugh and E. A. Seabrook.

"The salary of the farm advisor is paid by the United States, but the expenses of the office—amounting to $1,000 or $1,500 annually—are met by the county."

The third paragraph gave the next meeting, May 13, and the appointment of R. M. Eldon as temporary president and C. J. Tyson as temporary secretary.

Plany County Program

May 16, 1916, The Times reported under the headline "For Farm Demonstrator": "An expert in farm work from the state agricultural college was on hand at the meeting held in the court house Saturday evening. He explained to a small and interested audience the benefits that might be derived from having a farm demonstrator located in the county

"The meeting was held at the instigation of Tyson Brothers, Inc., and a few other progressive farmers for the purpose of taking definite steps to securing such an advisor.

"Officers for permanent organization were elected and they will take the matter before the commissioners at an early date.

Wartime Problems

"They are: President, J. L. Butt; vice president, E. F. Strausbaugh; secretary, George M. Rice; treasurer, W. H. Stock; executive committee, G. M. Keagy, Prof. H. Milton Roth, John Menges and Harry Stitzell."

Apparently the committee "took the matter before the commissioners" because in 1917 H. F. Hershey became the Adams County farm agent, and continued in that position until August, 1919, when he resigned.

The period was marked by a steep rise in the number of cars on the road, a wartime shortage of help, many problems—and much prosperity on the part of the farmers. The auto dealers in the area reported that during "the last several years" farmers had been purchasing more and more cars, and by 1920 had "shifted from favoring the lower priced cars to autos in the higher priced fields."

The board of directors of the agricultural Extension Association numbers 18—plus ex officio, the county superintendent of schools, the three county commissioners, the president of the Senior Extension Club and the president of the Adams County 4-H council. Shown in the accompanying picture is a part of the board, seated, left to right, Robert Lott, Aspers R. 1; Ralph Tyson, Gardners R. 1; G. Roscoe Worley, Hanover R. 4; Myles Starner, Aspers R. 1, president; standing, left to right, Mrs. Herbert Zepp, Gettysburg R. 4; Mrs. Clarence Shultz, Taneytown R. 1, secretary, and Mrs. Emory Gitt, Littlestown R. 1.

Had Many Plans

The minutes of the "executive committee of the Adams County Farm Bureau" on February 7, 1919, show that "the cow testing association plan was discussed. Bull associations were discussed. It is Mr. Hershey's plan to establish a number of hog pastures to be used for demonstrations. It was brought out that if we are to compete with foreign countries in the production of pork it will be up to us to study more economical methods of production."

The minutes also shows that "Fruit growers' conditions were taken up and discussed. Farm products show was taken up and favorably passed upon."

And "it was decided to take the Farm Bureau program into different sections of the county and the line of work that appeals to these particular localities will be taken up and worked out. Meetings to this end were mapped out for Fairfield, February 18; Hampton, 19; Gettysburg, 20, and Two Taverns, 21."

The minutes show that the "program as outlined by County Agent Hershey for the present year" was adopted.

Buy Car For Agent

The minutes of March 19, 1919, show that it was "moved and seconded that the secretary be authorized to purchase a Ford touring car with speedometer for use of the county agent." It was not indicated whether the speedometer was to check the county agent's speed — or mileage.

August 26, 1919, the board met and asked State College to select a successor to Mr. Hershey, "to be available about the first of the year."

Mr. Hershey apparently had done his work well, and the county was anxious for the work of the extension agent because the March 18, 1920, edition of The Gettysburg Times carried this story under the heading, "New Farm Agent Named For Adams":

Second Agent Named

"Adams County will again have the services of a farm agent according to an announcement made by the farm bureau Wednesday evening. Paul Hoffman, of Somerset county, a graduate of State College, has been appointed as agent for the county by the State College Farm Extension Bureau, and he has accepted the position.

"Mr. Hoffman will be in Gettysburg Friday at which time he will meet the members of the county farm bureau at a special session to be held in the offices of J. L. Butt, Esq. The meeting will be in the form of an informal conference in which general farm conditions will be discussed.

Without Agent 9 Months

"The county has been without the services of a farm agent for nearly nine months. H. F. Hershey, former agent, resigned his position last August to accept the position as manager of large apple and peach orchards in Bucks county.

"As proof of the fact that the farm agent is accepted by the farmers in this section as a valuable asset, barely a week has passed since Mr. Hershey left but that numerous calls have come to the office of the Superintendent of Schools adjoining the farm agent's office asking when another man would be appointed. Since the departure of Mr. Hershey the local farm bureau has been endeavoring to find a successor.

"Although at first many agriculturists looked upon the college trained farmer as a theorist and not worth much as a practical advisor the attitude of the tillers of the soil in this county has changed and the great majority will welcome the installation of a new agent.

"In January the county farm bureau asked the county commissioners to appropriate a sum sufficient to pay the expenses of a farm agent in the event they were successful in securing one."

Hoffman Begins Work

On March 20, 1920, The Gettysburg Times reported under the headline "Farm Agent Met Committee Men": "Preliminary plans of the work he will soon start to carry on in Adams county were discussed Friday afternoon by Paul Hoffman, new farm agent, with the executive committee of the Farm Bureau.

"The meeting which was held in the office of J. L. Butt, Esq., gave only an inkling of the results that are expected to be achieved by cooperation of the farmers and their agent, but at the smae time provide opportunity for an exchange of ideas which will eventually prove beneficial to both Mr. Hoffman and his helpers.

"Among the topics considered were the importance and necessity of establishing hog pasture demonstrations, corn variety tests, cow testing associations, and hog breeding associations as well as general improvement of all live stock including Holstein cattle which was of special interest to members of the Holstein Breeders Association present at the meeting.

"Various communities where these demonstrations will be held and men who will be chosen to aid the Farm Bureau were also considered.

"Professor F. P. Weaver, of the extension department of Pennsylvania College, was present at the gathering to express his views to E. F. Strausbaugh, president; John C. Bream, secretary; G. W. Koser, treasurer; J. L. Butt, Esq., Frank Waybright and Professor H. Milton Roth of the executive committee.

"Mr. Hoffman left Gettysburg immediately after the meeting but will return the early part of next week to assume his duties as farm agent of Adams county."

(Editor's Note: An interesting history of the growth and development of the agricultural extension service in Adams County will follow in serial form with the next installment to appear on Saturday's Farm Page.)

Penn State U. Honors Tyson

C. J. Tyson, late of Flora Dale, one of the founders of Agricultural Extension in the county and the temporary chairman of the committee organizing the program 40 years ago, was a trustee at Pennsylvania State University and this year the new plant industries building at the university was named Tyson Hall in his honor.

Mr. Tyson served on the Board of Trustees of the university from 1912 to 1938, including 14 years as a member of its executive committee. He took an active part in agricultural developments and served in many capacities among which was the presidency of the State Horticultural Association of Pennsylvania.

HIGHLIGHTS FROM FIRST FARM AGENT'S REPORT IN 1920

The first annual Adams County farm agent's report still available in the local files is that presented to the then "Farm Bureau," now the "Agricultural Extension Association" of the county, by County Agent Paul Hoffman in 1920.

Following are highlights from that report:

The Adams County Farm Bureau is not on paid membership basis. Any person, a resident of the county or owning farm land in the county, who is interested and willing to aid in the development of the agriculture of the county may become a member of the Farm Bureau by agreeing to its constitution.

The officers of the Farm Bureau are a president, vice president, secretary and treasurer, all of whom shall be elected for a period of one year and who shall serve without pay until their successors shall be elected.

The Executive Committee consists of the four officers named, the county superintendent of schools and four elective members elected at the annual election of officers. A quorum of the Executive Committee consists of five members. The Executive Committee has power to fill such vacancies as may occur in any office or committee, and to transact the business of the association.

The general policies of the Farm Bureau are to aid the development of agriculture in all its phases and such allied industries as may properly come in its providence. The relationship of the Farm Bureau with other existing organizations in the county have been very cordial. We have secured the undivided cooperation of all organizations and are working together on many problems. The Grange, the schools, the business men's organizations and the county newspaper are all giving active support to the Farm Bureau.

Home Economics Extension Club Work Began In County In 1918; Over300WomenMembersNow

Adams County's modern rural women—interested in studies varying from color combinations between furnishings, rugs and curtains to such matters as how to repair leaking faucets—are living a life far different from that of their mothers or grandmothers 40 years ago.

The 300 women in the 13 Home Economics Extension Clubs are engaging in a multitude of studies and activies this year. Their counterparts in 1918—first year such a program began in the county—were interested principally in one thing, how to make clothing.

Miss Margaret Brown, first extension home economist in the county, arrived here in the fall of 1918, during the term of County Agent H. F. Hershey, the Adams County Agricultural Extension Association records show.

Started Work At Barlow

Her first organization was a clothing class in the Barlow area in Mt. Joy Twp. The records show an adult home economics group under the name of Barlow every year since.

The present Barlow club is headed by Mrs. Wilbur Waybright, Gettysburg R. 1, and has 36 members.

According to the records "an enthusiastic and interested group of women met for the first meeting in October" at that Barlow home economics club organization in 1918. The group planned meetings once a month at which each woman was to make a fitted muslin pattern. From this she was to draft three tissue paper patterns and make a dress from one of those patterns.

Fashions Were Changing

The 1918 club started when there were great changes going on in fashions. High button shoes were on their way out and the truly chic wore pointed-toed patent leather pumps. Most of those in revolt against the high buttoned shoe wore felt spats atop their pumps, but some daring women, who were unafraid of catching pneumonia by exposing so much limb, actually left their ankles go bare—except for heavy stockings, and ignored both the high button shoe and the spat, wearing only the pumps.

Advertisements in The Gettysburg Times in October, 1918, show most of the ladies wearing the spats—when not high buttoned shoes—out of doors. Indoors the pump seemed appropriate. The skirt apparently ended three inches from the floor. The "corselet bodice," the "fringe trimmed panel," the "mandarin blouse" and the "irregular tunic" were described by the advertisement as the height of fashion.

It was such fashions that the Barlow club members took into consideration when they made their tissue paper patterns in 1918.

Club Subjects Changed

The records of the homemakers clubs reflect the changes in American customs over the years. While the first club was interested in making dresses, an interest that continued in the clubs for many years, and is still of primary interest among the 4-H home economics clubs for the youngsters, the adult women's habits changed and so did the clubs.

Buttonholes, for example were on the first agenda—more recently a popular item was the method of insertion of zippers.

As home clothing making gave way to ready-to-wear purchases, "buymanship" of clothing became a popular item with the homemakers.

New Materials, New Studies

And when the ladies sought information on how to buy clothes, they asked not only about their own, but about their husbands. Apparently the dominant male of 1916 who bought a silk shirt and whatever type of suit he wanted from the tailor had been replaced by a less dominant male who asks his wife to pick him out something to wear on her next trip to town.

The records show the ladies not only have studied how to buy clothing, as to style, and cloth, but also have studied how to "get the most for your money" at their homemakers meetings.

Some of the new studies of the ladies in their homemaking clubs are brought about by technological changes. In 1916 who could have known about synthetic cloth that didn't exist in the test-tube 40 years ago.

Brought In Specialists

With the entire United States in a dither because it was cut off from German dyes in World War I, the plight of the 1918 homemaker in regard to color was far different from the plight of the present day housewife who finds newer and newer shades and colors and new combinations from which to choose each year. Evidence of the variety of colors available are sessions on "Color in the Home" in the current clubs.

In 1926 a 12-day clothing center was held jointly in Cashtown and McKnightstown. Mrs. Albert Woomer, of Cashtown, president of the group, explained to Miss Helen Matheis, the home economics representative in the county at that time, that her members were interested in the fitted muslin pattern which aided individuals in drafting patterns. So a State College representative was brought down for two weeks to teach the "girls" how to make the muslin patterns.

In 1926 377 women attended 48 members on sewing and the members of the Cranberry and Center Mills groups placed 91 articles of clothing on exhibit at the South Mountain Fair.

Women On Executive Board

With the expanding activities in home economics, the agricultural Extension Association decided to place a woman member on its executive committee. The first named were "Mrs. Dr. W. A. Woomer" and Mrs. I. Z. Musselman, elected at the January 9, 1829, meeting. A committee of seven women were appointed to work with them and the ladies were guests at a tea at the Hoffman house.

In 1930 three women were named as members of the executive committee, Mrs. B. E. Benner, Mrs. Howard Schwartz and Mrs. H. H. Beamer, and they were to continue for many years. Mrs. Beamer was succeeded by Mrs. Luther Lady in 1939, but Mrs. Benner and Mrs. Schwartz continue on to the present with additional women members named.

The fame of the Cashtown-McKnightstown group in 1927 spread to Orrtanna and a clothing center with 14 members headed by Mrs. I. Z. Musselman was formed there.

Made Tour In 1927

In 1927 the ladies made one of their first tours. Sixty-three of the homemakers traveled by auto to the Armstrong linoleum plant in Lancaster. Since then the extension homemakers have been making annual and sometimes semi-annual trips to various places of interest.

From 1918 to 1926 the home economics clubs stressed clothing. Then in 1926 the county established its first "home management" club. The Gardners group, with Mrs. J. W. Weigle as president, carried out the first interior decoration projects "to make their homes more beautiful" and others soon followed suit. In 1928 Barlow, with Mrs. Howard Schwartz as president, and York Springs, with Mrs. H. P. Pearson as leader, took up selection and purchase of pieces of furniture, wall finishings, draperies, and floor coverings "from the point of view of economy, durability, and serviceability. The color schemes as well as the arrangements of furniture proved an interesting topic. Inexpensive and artistic lamp shades and book ends were made. Pictures were framed to lend notes of usefulness and beauty to the home," the home economist, Miss Helen Matheis reported.

7 Clubs In 1930

In 1930 there were seven home economics groups: Brushtown, Mrs. H. B. Geiselman, president; New Chester, Mrs. M. Sanders, president; Flora Dale, Miss Anna Black, president; Mt. Tabor, Miss Irene Wolfe, president; Cashtown, Mrs. Albert Woomer, president; Mummasburg, Mrs. J. W. Lower, president, and Orrtanna, Mrs. I. Z. Musselman, president.

The extension home economics work was carried on in 1933 by Miss Dorothy Bowser and the records show some of the women's groups taking up refinishing of furniture. The report shows one group refinished three chairs and two small stands at a cost of $1.29. Refinishing has been replaced on the agenda by more ambitious projects such activities list for the groups in 1956-57.

Mrs. Ada F. Beegle became the home economist in 1934 and had clothing groups at Gardners and Biglerville. Barlow and Brushtown took up flower growing and the Brushtown group started something new. They took up the dyeing of materials with special emphasis on the dyeing of materials for use in rugs. Miss Beegle left the county in 1935 to become the full time home economist in Cumberland County.

First full-time home economics representative in Adams County was Miss Mary Louise Bradstock, who came here in 1936. Under Miss Bradstock the women took up studies that included commercial pattern study and undergarment construction with special emphasis on textile construction. Rayon was on the market by that time.

Miss Mildred L. Adams became the county home economist on February 1, 1937, coming here from Temple University in Philadelphia. Nine groups were then in existence, Barlow, Biglerville, Table Rock, Greenmount, York Springs, East Berlin, Brushtown, The Pines and Arendtsville. She added clubs at Round Top, Abbottstown, New Oxford, Green Springs and White Hall.

Conservative In '37

That year the Fairfield club took up children's clothing and home-made toys. They made 100 pieces of clothing and held a Christmas party at which they gave clothing and a toy to needy children in the community.

Such news items appeared for study as "better buymanship of hosiery" and a number of the women kept records on the cost, laundering and wearing records of various types of hose.

As a fashion note, the records for 1937 show the ladies were "becoming more conservative in planning their wardrobe. Black predominates, and some of the gaudy color combinations are fast disappearing. A person who is large in stature does not wear big bright prints, but more solid colors. The women seem to realize the value of having a basic dress and the many different ways it can be changed by the use of color and cuffs, accessories, etc."

Miss Adam also found in 1937

This was a scene very familiar to Adams County when Agricultural Extension began 40 years ago, and it is a scene that can still be seen, but only infrequently. The farmer now generally rides a tractor instead of contemplating the flow of earth from the moldboard of his horse-drawn plow.

Here is another scene familiar to older residents of the county, when the horse was king and the wagon supreme. Now the orchards and fields disgorge their product into jalopy buggies that are sometmes equally wondrous to behold—but have the advantage of gasoline power.

The South Mountain Fair has been a fixture of Adams County and Agricultural Extension work for years. Here, in a picture taken a number of years ago, George W. Minter, left, surveys the cameraman while M. E. Knouse, center and E. C. McDannell use a fence for support while discussing the fair.

Closely allied with Agricultural Extension in the county throughout its history has been another Pennsylvania State University organization, the Fruit Research Laboratory at Arendsville. The scientists who conduct the laboratory are, left to right, Dr. Fred Lewis, plant pathologist; Dean Asquith, entomologist, and Dr. Frank N. Hewetson, pomologist.

Girls' 4-H Club Work Features Last 30 Years Of Agricultural Extension Work In This County

Girls' 4-H club work has been one of the features of the home economics extension program in Adams County for the past 30 years. During that time a number of girls have made enviable records. Several of these club members now have homes of their own and are using some of the lessons that they learned in club work in their everyday life.

Under Miss Helen Matheis in 1926 the work was known as the Junior Sewing clubs. The following communities had been organized: Bendersville, Miss Virginia Wright, president; Center Mills, Miss Eva Slaybaugh, president, Cranberry, Miss Nettie Bushey, president; Gardners, Miss Cora Bream, president; Greenmount, Miss Alice Riley, president, and York Springs, Miss Mildred Hartlacker. Elementary hand sewing and machine work on wash dresses were stressed.

Cashtown followed by electing Miss Marie Kuhn as president of their Sewing Club. The girls were interested in raising the standard of the school girl's wardrobe in having garments appropriate to their use. At the Adams County Fair in September of 1927 two groups of girls from Cranberry and Center Mills put on an interesting exhibit of garments they had constructed. The Aspers group followed with Miss Ruby Deardorff as president, and the Mt. Tabor community organized with Miss Violet Kuntz as president.

Local Leaders In Key Role

In 1933 4-H club work began to increase with a wider range of projects as 4-H Meals and Health Club Work, three years of Clothing, and a Room Improvement Project Eight 4-H Clothing clubs were organized in the county and 84 meetings were held with 886 present. One girls' club was formed for the purpose of improving their rooms and assuming the responsibilities of their care.

Under Miss Ada Beegle in 1934 the 4-H Meals and Health Project continued with stress on menu planning and building A dinner was prepared at a cost of 12 cents a person. During this year a 4-H canning project was carried out by the hotpack method. Twenty-one girls from Cashtown completed this project with Mrs. William Riggeal as the local leader. Miss Rebecca Reaver was local leader for the Barlow group. Much of the success in club work has been due to the splendid efforts and cooperation of the local leaders. Much of the individual help and personal contacts fall on the local leader, especially as the program of work makes it impossible for the county home economics representative to do more than give the fundamentals of the work. The local leader carries on the continuity of the work by giving individual attention to the girls and carrying on the social side of the club program.

In 1937 we find the following 11 communities where 4-H club work is being carried out — Cashtown, Fairfield, Iron Springs, Gardners, Bendersville, Aspers, Biglerville, York Springs, East Berlin, Abbottstown and Brushtown. One hundred and twenty-five girls were enrolled in clothing club work, 25 in 4-H foods and health, and 10 girls in a 4-H room improvement club.

Won State Honors

In 1938 and 1939 new 4-H clubs were organized with the following local leaders: Mt. Pleasant, Mrs. Charles Snider; Orrtanna, Mrs. I Z. Musselman; Round Top, Mrs. Charles Evans; Cranberry, Mrs. J. S. Deatrick; Hampton, Mrs. Harry Kime; Littlestown, Miss Emma Ullrich, and Lower Tract, Mrs. Cecil Dunbar.

The county began to turn toward the nutrition problems as 110 girls were enrolled in 4-H food work, while 90 were in clothing. A study was made of food suitable for breakfast, such as fruits, cereals, eggs, muffins and beverage The girls prepared the food at each meeting and the final work includes preparation of a complete breakfast. The numbers prepared 966 dishes and 257 meals.

It was at State Club Week that two girls from the 4-H club in Bendersville won honors. Miss Phyllis Weaner, a 4-H club wardrobe girl, exhibited her Sunday costume with accessories and won a gold medal. Kay Keller exhibited her street costume with accessories and won a silver medal.

Many Activities

Each year there is a county-wide 4-H picnic. The afternoon and evening programs have interesting and varied features ranging from playlets, stunts and feats to pageantry. Last year an Indian campfire was carried out by dances, songs and games.

The 4-H club round-up or achievement day at which the girls' work is exhibited and judged plays a very important role in club work. It is important for a girl to learn to sew and cook, but how well can she sew and cook. The judging of the work gives her an opportunity to know how well she has done her project and gives her a standard by which she can compare her work with other girls.

The girls of the Aspers club where Mrs. Roy Peters was local leader improved their bedrooms by painting and rearrangement of furniture and by making bedspreads, curtains, etc.

The different projects in which the girl from 10 to 20 years of age enrolled in 1940 were clothing, in a 3-year program, foods, in a 3-year program, room improvement, in a 2-year program, home management for older girls, lunch box club, canning, and extra curricular clubs.

15 Clubs Now

Food and clothing continue to be favorites in the home economics 4-H clubs And it's a little difficult nowadays to call them, strictly "girls" clubs. A number of the younger male set, interested in cooking, have joined their sisters in the clubs in recent years and won prizes and awards.

This year there are 15 home economics 4-H clubs with 231 members The clubs, the number of their members, their leaders and their projects follow. Littlestown, 34, Mrs Emory Gitt, Littlestown R. 2, and Mrs. Wade Brown, Littlestown R. 1, "Snacks". Abbottstown, 31, Mrs George Hollinger and Mrs. Bernard Anthony, "Let's Cook Outdoors", Brushtown, 14, Miss Teresa Murren, Hanover R. 4, "Let's Pack a Lunch"; Conewago, 15, Mrs. Melvin Nace, Hanover R. 5, "Start Stitching" and "When You Step Out"; Arendtsville, 13, Mrs. Roy Tate, Biglerville R. 2, "Let's Make a Dress"; Idaville, 9, Mrs Paul Dennis, Gardners R. 2, "Let's Pack a Lunch"; Latimore, 10, Mrs. Walter Harbold, York Springs R. 1, "Let's Make a Dress", York Springs, 12, Miss Miriam Leer, "Let's Cook Outdoors"; Fairfield, 7, Mrs Edward Snyder, "It's Fun to Cook"; Schriver's Corner, 16, Mrs. Frank Keller and Lorene Tate, both of Gettysburg R. 4, "Start Stitching"; Barlow, 22, Mrs. Paul Dorr and Mrs. Charles Holoka, both of Gettysburg R 1, "Snacks"; Harrisburg Road, 8, Mrs. Herbert Zepp, Gettysburg R. 4, "Dinners"; McSherrystown, 12, Miss Sue Ackerman, "It's Fun to Cook"; Bonneauville, 18, Mrs Clement Hawn and Mrs. Maurice Smith, both of Gettysburg R. 5, "Start Stitching"; Harney Road, 10, Mrs. Harvey Oberlander, Taneytown R. 1, "Let's Cook Outdoors."

Nice salad to serve with lamb: salad greens, grapefruit sections and cubes of mint jelly.

An Adams County Fruit Growers Association was in existence before the founding of Agricultural Extension in the county but it had died out for many years before being revived by Extension, and now has become one of the outstanding fruit frowers groups in the state. The officers shown, left to right, are Guy Beamer, Aspers R. 1, secretary; Ralph Tyson, Gardners R. 1, president; William Wilson, Biglerville R. 1, vice president.

gram of work are the demands and economic needs of the different communities in the county. For instance, where some farmers in one community decided it was for the best interests of all persons concerned to adopt one breed of hogs and buy a good sire co-operatively a Hog Breeders' Association was formed

Project Activities And Results

As the Farm Bureau has been functioning only since April 1, 1920, after a period of inactivity of almost a year, the county has not been districted with community committees for each section Each local co-operator has served as a committeeman for that particular project in his community

Swine Improvement

A number of farmers of the Two Taverns section realizing the advantages to be derived by having one breed of hogs in the community and encouraging the development of some one breed, organized a Swine Breeders' Association and selected Poland-Chinas as the community breed With the assistance of the Farm Bureau, nine well-bred registered females and a community sire were brought into the county from the herds of some of the most prominent breeders in Ohio That the other farmers of the community are realizing the good of raising this better class of stock is very plainly shown by the way they are engaging spring pigs from the Association members This Breeders' Association has included in its program for 1921 the securing of more members for its association aiding the Boys' Breeding Club in securing more members and exhibiting their stock at the annual community picnic

Hogging Off Corn

One Hogging Off Corn demonstration was put on with the co-operation of E. F Strasbaugh of Orrtanna.

Thirteen shoats averaging one hundred and forty-six and seven tenths pounds were turned on three fourths of an acre of corn for a period of twenty-three days Tankage and water were supplied while on pasture The average daily gain was one and nine hundreth pounds The total gain was three hundred and twenty-seven points which at market price of hogs at the conclusion of the demonstration of twenty cents per pound would mean $65 40 Deducting the cost of tankage supplied which amounted to $3 80 left a balance of $61 50, the return for the corn consumed Figuring the yield of corn at forty-five bushels shelled, were realized $1 36½ per bushel on the corn which was considerably more than market price at that time.

Boys' Pig Club

Two Boys' Pig Breeding Clubs were formed One in the same section as the Breeders' Association and adopting the same breed the other in the Fairfield district which adopted Duroc-Jerseys as the club breed Under the supervision of the Farm Bureau and the Animal Husbandry extension specialists eighteen pure-bred pigs were brought into the county and distributed among the boys

The winner in the Duroc-Jersey Club tied for third place in Pennsylvania in Duroc-Jersey Clubs. Both Breeding Clubs have already promised some of their spring pigs to people in their communities. Both clubs have set out to increase their membership for 1921 The Poland-China Club is planning to exhibit its stock at the annual community picnic along with the Breeders Association In connection with the Poland-China Breeding Club, a Feeding Club was carried through a period of one hundred and forty-four days. An interesting demonstration was run by one of the boys who was in both clubs During the feeding period of one hundred and forty-four days his pure-bred pig gained forty-one pounds more than the grade pig on the same feed and under the same conditions.

Poultry Projects

Six cooperators in different sections of the county are carrying on poultry projects and keeping the record sheets for the next year. Community meetings were called by the different cooperators and such problems as feeding and winter management were discussed

Corn Variety Tests

One of the important considerations of the Farm Bureau is increased efficiency in production If one variety of corn will yield considerably more than another, this should be known and acted upon accordingly. It will increase the efficiency of each acre of land planted in corn. Two comparative tests along this line were conducted in 1920 with the cooperation of John C Bream, along the Fairfield Road, and Roy E Zinn near Hunterstown

To determine the yields of shelled corn per acre, samples of each variety were sent to the Pennsylvania State College to be analyzed for moisture content While no general recommendations will be made until the varieties in question have been run several years to overcome error due to seasonal variations The yield of the different varieties are of interest

Alfalfa

A number of farmers were assisted in securing good alfalfa seed and in seeding alfalfa in 1920 A number of these men are seeding alfalfa for the first time

The Truog Soil Tester which is part of the scientific equipment of the Farm Bureau has been used to test soil for acidity for a number of Adams County farmers A number of calls regarding kind of fertilizers to use were received Cooperative buying of fertilizers was also taken up

Fruit Work

A number of apple spraying demonstrations were conducted in the county with Prof H W Hodgkiss Extension Entomologist and S W Frost and R C Walton of the Arendtsville Field Laboratory co-operating The objects and the results of the various demonstrations follow

The County Agent spent sixty-three days in the office and hundred and seventy days in the field Four hundred and seventy-one farm visits were made and two hundred and seventy-eight office calls were made on the Farm Bureau Seventy-five meetings were with a grand total attendance of 2,881 Fifty-nine newspaper article and 568 personal letters were written

Outlook And Recommendations

The outlook for Farm Bureau work in the county for the next year is very encouraging The farmers and business men seem to be more and more interested in developing the agriculture of the county. The program of work for the various communities of the county is planned by a number of men of the different communities meeting with the County Agent These men take up the local committee for their respective communities and assist in carrying on the various projects

A study was made of food suitable for breakfast, such as fruits, cereals, eggs, muffins and beverage. The girls prepared the food at each meeting and the final work includes preparation of a complete breakfast. The numbers prepared 966 dishes and 257 meals.

It was at State Club Week that two girls from the 4-H club in Bendersville won honors. Miss Phyllis Weaner, a 4-H club wardrobe girl, exhibited her Sunday costume with accessories and won a gold medal. Kay Keller exhibited her street costume with accessories and won a silvel medal.

Many Activities

Each year there is a county-wide 4-H picnic. The afternoon and evening programs have interesting and varied features ranging from playlets, stunts and feats to pageantry. Last year an Indian campfire was carried out by dances, songs and games.

The 4-H club round-up or achievement day at which the girls' work is exhibited and judged plays a very important role in club work. It is important for a girl to learn to sew and cook, but how well can she sew and cook. The judging of the work gives her an opportunity to know how well she has done her project and gives her a standard by which she can compare her work with other girls.

The girls of the Aspers club where Mrs. Roy Peters was local leader improved their bedrooms by painting and rearrangement of furniture and by making bedspreads, curtains, etc.

The different projects in which the girl from 10 to 20 years of age enrolled in 1940 were clothing, in a 3-year program, foods, in a 3-year program, room improvement, in a 2-year program, home management for older girls, lunch box club, canning, and extra curricular clubs.

15 Clubs Now

Food and clothing continue to be favorites in the home economics 4-H clubs. And it's a little difficult nowadays to call them, strictly "girls" clubs. A number of the younger male set, interested in cooking, have joined their sisters in the clubs in recent years and won prizes and awards.

This year there are 15 home economics 4-H clubs with 231 members. The clubs, the number of their members, their leaders and their projects follow: Littlestown, 34, Mrs. Emory Gitt, Littlestown R. 2, and Mrs. Wade Brown, Littlestown R. 1, "Snacks"; Abbottstown, 31, Mrs. George Hollinger and Mrs. Bernard Anthony, "Let's Cook Outdoors"; Brushtown, 14, Miss Teresa Murren, Hanover R. 4, "Let's Pack a Lunch"; Conewago, 15, Mrs. Melvin Nace, Hanover R. 5, "Start Stitching" and "When You Step Out"; Arendtsville, 13, Mrs. Roy Tate, Biglerville R. 2, "Let's Make a Dress"; Idaville, 9, Mrs. Paul Dennis, Gardners R. 2, "Let's Pack a Lunch"; Latimore, 10, Mrs. Walter Harbold, York Springs R. 1, "Let's Make a Dress"; York Springs, 12, Miss Miriam Leer, "Let's Cook Outdoors"; Fairfield, 7, Mrs. Edward Snyder, "It's Fun to Cook"; Schriver's Corner, 16, Mrs. Frank Keller and Lorene Tate, both of Gettysburg R. 4, "Start Stitching"; Barlow, 22, Mrs. Paul Dorr and Mrs. Charles Holoka, both of Gettysburg R. 1, "Snacks"; Harrisburg Road, 8, Mrs. Herbert Zepp, Gettysburg R. 4, "Dinners"; McSherrystown, 12, Miss Sue Ackerman, "It's Fun to Cook"; Bonneauville, 18, Mrs. Clement Hawn and Mrs. Maurice Smith, both of Gettysburg R. 5, "Start Stitching"; Harney Road, 10, Mrs. Harvey Oberlander, Taneytown R. 1, "Let's Cook Outdoors."

gram of work are the demands and economic needs of the different communities in the county. For instance, where some farmers in one community decided it was for the best interests of all persons concerned to adopt one breed of hogs and buy a good sire co-operatively, a Hog Breeders' Association was formed.

Project Activities And Results

As the Farm Bureau has been functioning only since April 1, 1920, after a period of inactivity of almost a year, the county has not been districted with community committees for each section. Each local cooperator has served as a committeeman for that particular project in his community.

Swine Improvement

A number of farmers of the Two Taverns section, realizing the advantages to be derived by having one breed of hogs in the community and encouraging the development of some one breed, organized a Swine Breeders' Association and selected Poland-Chinas as the community breed. With the assistance of the Farm Bureau, nine well-bred registered females and a community sire were brought into the county from the herds of some of the most prominent breeders in Ohio. That the other farmers of the community are realizing the good of raising this better class of stock is very plainly shown by the way they are engaging spring pigs from the Association members. This Breeders' Association has included in its program for 1921 the securing of more members for its association, aiding the Boys' Breeding Club in securing more members and exhibiting their stock at the annual community picnic.

Hogging Off Corn

One Hogging Off Corn demonstration was put on with the co-operation of E. F. Strasbaugh of Orrtanna.

Thirteen shoats averaging one hundred and forty-six and seven tenths pounds were turned on three fourths of an acre of corn for a period of twenty-three days. Tankage and water were supplied while on pasture. The average daily gain was one and nine hundreth pounds. The total gain was three hundred and twenty-seven points which at market price of hogs at the conclusion of the demonstration of twenty cents per pound would mean $65.40. Deducting the cost of tankage supplied which amounted to $3.80 left a balance of $61.50, the return for the corn consumed. Figuring the yield of corn at forty-five bushels shelled, were realized $1.36½ per bushel on the corn which was considerably more than market price at that time.

Boys' Pig Club

Two Boys' Pig Breeding Clubs were formed. One in the same section as the Breeders' Association and adopting the same breed; the other in the Fairfield district which adopted Duroc-Jerseys as the club breed. Under the supervision of the Farm Bureau and the Animal Husbandry extension specialists, eighteen pure-bred pigs were brought into the county and distributed among the boys.

The winner in the Duroc-Jersey Club tied for third place in Pennsylvania in Duroc-Jersey Clubs. Both Breeding Clubs have already promised some of their spring pigs to people in their communities. Both clubs have set out to increase their membership for 1921. The Poland-China Club is planning to exhibit its stock at the annual community picnic along with the Breeders Association. In connection with the Poland-China Breeding Club, a Feeding Club was carried through a period of one hundred and forty-four days. An interesting demonstration was run by one of the boys who was in both clubs. During the feeding period of one hundred and forty-four days his pure-bred pig gained forty-one pounds more than the grade pig on the same feed and under the same conditions.

Poultry Projects

Six cooperators in different sections of the county are carrying on poultry projects and keeping the record sheets for the next year. Community meetings were called by the different cooperators and such problems as feeding and winter management were discussed.

Corn Variety Tests

One of the important considerations of the Farm Bureau is increased efficiency in production. If one variety of corn will yield considerably more than another, this should be known and acted upon accordingly. It will increase the efficiency of each acre of land planted in corn. Two comparative tests along this line were conducted in 1920 with the cooperation of John C. Bream, along the Fairfield Road, and Roy E. Zinn near Hunterstown.

To determine the yields of shelled corn per acre, samples of each variety were sent to the Pennsylvania State College to be analyzed for moisture content. While no general recommendations will be made until the varieties in question have been run several years to overcome error due to seasonal variations. The yield of the different varieties are of interest.

Alfalfa

A number of farmers were assisted in securing good alfalfa seed and in seeding alfalfa in 1920. A number of these men are seeding alfalfa for the first time.

The Trougg Soil Tester which is part of the scientific equipment of the Farm Bureau has been used to test soil for acidity for a number of Adams County farmers. A number of calls regarding kind of fertilizers to use were received. Cooperative buying of fertilizers was also taken up.

Fruit Work

A number of apple spraying demonstrations were conducted in the county with Prof. H. W. Hodgkiss, Extension Entomologist, and S. W. Frost and R. C. Walton of the Arendtsville Field Laboratory cooperating. The objects and the results of the various demonstrations follow.

The County Agent spent sixty-three days in the office and hundred and seventy days in the field Four hundred and seventy-one farm visits were made and two hundred and seventy-eight office calls were made on the Farm Bureau. Seventy-five meetings were with a grand total attendance of 2,881. Fifty-nine newspaper article and 568 personal letters were written.

Outlook And Recommendations

The outlook for Farm Bureau work in the county for the next year is very encouraging. The farmers and business men seem to be more and more interested in developing the agriculture of the county. The program of work for the various communities of the county is planned by a number of men of the different communities meeting with the County Agent. These men take up the local committee for their respective communities and assist in carrying on the various projects.

Adams County's modern rural women—interested in studies varying from color combinations between furnishings, rugs and curtains to such matters as how to repair leaking faucets—are living a life far different from that of their mothers or grandmothers 40 years ago.

The 300 women in the 13 Home Economics Extension Clubs are engaging in a multitude of studies and activies this year. Their counterparts in 1918—first year such a program began in the county—were interested principally in one thing, how to make clothing.

Miss Margaret Brown, first extension home economist in the county, arrived here in the fall of 1918, during the term of County Agent H. F. Hershey, the Adams County Agricultural Extension Association records show.

Started Work At Barlow

Her first organization was a clothing class in the Barlow area in Mt Joy Twp. The records show an adult home economics group under the name of Barlow every year since.

The present Barlow club is headed by Mrs. Wilbur Waybright, Gettysburg R. 1, and has 36 members

According to the records "an enthusiastic and interested group of women met for the first meeting in October" at that Barlow home economics club organization in 1918 The group planned meetings once a month at which each woman was to make a fitted muslin pattern. From this she was to draft three tissue paper patterns and make a dress from one of those patterns.

Fashions Were Changing

The 1918 club started when there were great changes going on in fashions. High button shoes were on their way out and the truly chic wore pointed-toed patent leather pumps. Most of those in revolt against the high buttoned shoe wore felt spats atop their pumps, but some daring women, who were unafraid of catching pneumonia by exposing so much limb, actually left their ankles go bare—except for heavy stockings, and ignored both the high button shoe and the spat, wearing only the pumps.

Advertisements in The Gettysburg Times in October, 1918, show most of the ladies wearing the spats—when not high buttoned shoes—out of doors. Indoors the pump seemed appropriate. The skirt apparently ended three inches from the floor The "corselet bodice," the "fringe trimmed panel," the "mandarin blouse" and the "irregular tunic" were described by the advertisement as the height of fashion.

It was such fashions that the Barlow club members took into consideration when they made their tissue paper patterns in 1918.

Club Subjects Changed

The records of the homemakers clubs reflect the changes in American customs over the years. While the first club was interested in making dresses, an interest that continued in the clubs for many years, and is still of primary interest among the 4-H home economics clubs for the youngsters, the adult women's habits changed and so did the clubs

Buttonholes for example were on the first agenda—more recently a popular item was the method of insertion of zippers.

As home clothing making gave way to ready-to-wear purchases, "buymanship" of clothing became a popular item with the homemakers.

New Materials, New Studies

And when the ladies sought information on how to buy clothes, they asked not only about their own, but about their husbands. Apparently the dominant male of 1916 who bought a silk shirt and whatever type of suit he wanted from the tailor had been replaced by a less dominant male who asks his wife to pick him out something to wear on her next trip to town.

The records show the ladies not only have studied how to buy clothing, as to style, and cloth, but also have studied how to "get the most for your money" at their homemakers meetings.

Some of the new studies of the ladies in their homemaking clubs are brought about by technological changes. In 1916 who could have known about synthetic cloth that didn't exist in the test-tube 40 years ago.

Brought In Specialists

With the entire United States in a dither because it was cut off from German dyes in World War I, the plight of the 1918 homemaker in regard to color was far different from the plight of the present day housewife who finds newer and newer shades and colors and new combinations from which to choose each year. Evidence of the variety of colors available are sessions on "Color in the Home" in the current clubs

In 1926 a 12-day clothing center was held jointly in Cashtown and McKnightstown. Mrs. Albert Woomer, of Cashtown, president of the group, explained to Miss Helen Matheis, the home economics representative in the county at that time, that her members were interested in the fitted muslin pattern which aided individuals in drafting patterns. So a State College representative was brought down for two weeks to teach the "girls" how to make the muslin patterns

This was a scene very familiar to Adams County when Agricultural Extension began 40 years ago, and it is a scene that can still be seen, but only infrequently. The farmer now generally rides a tractor instead of contemplating the flow of earth from the moldboard of his horse-drawn plow.

Here is another scene familiar to older residents of the county, when the horse was king and the wagon supreme. Now the orchards and fields disgorge their product into jalopy buggies that are sometimes equally wondrous to behold—but have the advantage of gasoline power.

The South Mountain Fair has been a fixture of Adams County and Agricultural Extension work for years. Here, in a picture taken a number of years ago, George W. Minter, left, surveys the cameraman while M. E. Knouse, center and E. C. McDannell use a fence for support while discussing the fair.

In 1926 377 women attended 48 members on sewing and the members of the Cranberry and Center Mills groups placed 91 articles of clothing on exhibit at the South Mountain Fair.

Women On Executive Board

With the expanding activities in home economics, the agricultural Extension Association decided to place a woman member on its executive committee. The first named were "Mrs. Dr. W. A. Woomer" and Mrs. I. Z. Musselman, elected at the January 9, 1829, meeting. A committee of seven women were appointed to work with them and the ladies were guests at a tea at the Hoffman house.

In 1930 three women were named as members of the executive committee, Mrs. B. E. Benner, Mrs. Howard Schwartz and Mrs. H. H. Beamer, and they were to continue for many years. Mrs. Beamer was succeeded by Mrs. Luther Lady in 1939, but Mrs. Benner and Mrs. Schwartz continue on to the present with additional women members named.

The fame of the Cashtown-McKnightstown group in 1927 spread to Orrtanna and a clothing center with 14 members headed by Mrs. I. Z. Musselman was formed there.

Made Tour In 1927

In 1927 the ladies made one of their first tours. Sixty-three of the homemakers traveled by auto to the Armstrong linoleum plant in Lancaster. Since then the extension homemakers have been making annual and sometimes semi-annual trips to various places of interest.

From 1918 to 1926 the home economics clubs stressed clothing. Then in 1926 the county established its first "home management" club. The Gardners group, with Mrs. J. W. Weigle as president, carried out the first interior decoration projects "to make their homes more beautiful" and others soon followed suit. In 1928 Barlow, with Mrs. Howard Schwartz as president, and York Springs, with Mrs. H. P. Pearson as leader, took up selection and purchase of pieces of furniture, wall finishings, draperies, and floor coverings "from the point of view of economy, durability, and serviceability. The color schemes as well as the arrangements of furniture proved an interesting topic. Inexpensive and artistic lamp shades and book ends were made. Pictures were framed to lend notes of usefulness and beauty to the home." the home economist, Miss Helen Matheis reported.

In 1930 there were seven home economics groups: Brushtown, Mrs. H. B. Geiselman, president; New Chester, Mrs. M. Sanders, president; Flora Dale, Miss Anna Black, president; Mt. Tabor, Miss Irene Wolfe, president; Cashtown, Mrs. Albert Woomer, president; Mummasburg, Mrs. J. W. Lower, president, and Orrtanna, Mrs. I Z. Musselman, president.

The extension home economics work was carried on in 1933 by Miss Dorothy Bowser and the records show some of the women's groups taking up refinishing of furniture. The report shows one group refinished three chairs and two small stands at a cost of $1.29. Refinishing has been replaced on the agenda by more ambitious projects such activities list for the groups in 1956-57.

Mrs. Ada F. Beegle became the home economist in 1934 and had clothing groups at Gardners and Biglerville. Barlow and Brushtown took up flower growing and the Brushtown group started something new. They took up the dyeing of materials with special emphasis on the dyeing of materials for use in rugs. Miss Beegle left the county in 1935 to become the full time home economist in Cumberland County.

First full-time home economics representative in Adams County was Miss Mary Louise Bradstock, who came here in 1936. Under Miss Bradstock the women took up studies that included commercial pattern study and undergarment construction with special emphasis on textile construction. Rayon was on the market by that time.

Miss Mildred L. Adams became the county home economist on February 1, 1937, coming here from Temple University in Philadelphia. Nine groups were then in existence, Barlow, Biglerville, Table Rock, Greenmount, York Springs, East Berlin, Brushtown, The Pines and Arendtsville. She added clubs at Round Top, Abbottstown, New Oxford, Green Springs and White Hall.

Conservative In '37

That year the Fairfield club took up children's clothing and home-made toys. They made 100 pieces of clothing and held a Christmas party at which they gave clothing and a toy to needy children in the community.

Such news items appeared for study as "better buymanship of hosiery" and a number of the women kept records on the cost, laundering and wearing records of various types of hose.

As a fashion note, the records for 1937 show the ladies were "becoming more conservative in planning their wardrobe. Black predominates, and some of the gaudy color combinations are fast disappearing. A person who is large in stature does not wear big bright prints, but more solid colors. The women seem to realize the value of having a basic dress and the many different ways it can be changed by the use of color and cuffs, accessories, etc."

Miss Adam also found in 1937

The ladies—unidentified—apparently can hardly believe what they are hearing and seeing at an early demonstration held by the Adams County Agricultural Extension Association. Modern day misses, however, are enjoined not to ponder too much on the fashions shown—forty years of experience has shown that women's fashions have a habit of repeating.

Half As Many Farms In County Now As In 1916 But Average Size Jumped From 76 To 104 A.

Adams County farms have grown bigger in size and smaller in number during the last 40 years They have changed from men and animals as the basis for their power to electricity and machines

Comparison between comparable census figures shows that the average Adams County farm had 76 acres in 1916 Today the average is 104 1 acres Then there were 12,553 horses and mules on the farms; today the number is 1,244.

Then there were 3 752 farms, now there are 2,376 and the census notes that only 1,850 are classed as commercial farms

73 Pct. Of County Farmed

Then the farms included 281-858 acres; today they encompass 247,303 acres, a decline but still about 73 per cent of the county's entire acreage.

Some tremendous changes are apparent at first glance. There is a lot more orchard in Adams County today than there was when The Adams County Agricultural Extension Association was founded in 1916, 40 years ago. Then there were 165,999 apple trees, today there are 404,730. Then there were 27,798 peach trees, today there are 226,954 of them. Today there are 254,952 sour cherry trees, and the census of 1916 doesn't even list cherry trees.

The county also has a lot more cattle roaming its acres. The 1916 figures show 24,177 head; today there is 33,108 head. Cows and heifers totalled 14,210 in 1916 and 14 045 in 1956, but the milk production has increased from 35,198,466 pounds to 60,602,547 pounds.

Poultry Production Up

The county has also increased in poultry production. Forty years ago the number of chickens is listed as 389,134 and 2,093,751 dozen eggs were produced. Currently there are 549,866 chickens producing 4,915,719 dozen eggs.

Some comparisons have to be made with 1940, 16 years ago, because the 1916 figures show nothing at all concerning such items as farm autos, radios, etc And television sets, another big item on farms today, were not even thought about by farmers 40 years ago, or 16 years ago.

The use of electricity has nearly doubled in 16 years. The 1940 figure shows 1,420 electrically equipped homes. Today 2,410 farms have electricity Homes with running water in 1940 totalled 940 as compared with 1,989 homes with running water today

Have 1,218 TV Sets

Sixteen years ago there were almost as many telephones on farms as there are today. One thousand two hundred twenty phones were installed in farmers' homes in 1940. Phones have jumped a mere 330 in those 16 years, making today's figure 1.550 homes with telephones.

Television increased from zero to 1,218 sets today. The number of radios recorded in 1940 was 1.860, while the 1955 census does not list the radio. Another more recent appliance in the home has had considerable success on the farm. The home freezer is a permanent fixture on about 1.299 farm homes today.

Motor trucks on farms have increased only by 149 in 16 years, while tractors have more than doubled in number. In 1940 about 930 tractors were listed as compared to 1.860 on the highly mechanized farm of today.

Hired Labor Costly

One of the major expenditures of todays farms is for hired labor. The 1 135 farms employing hired help paid the workers $2,318,667.

One thousand five hundred ninety-seven farms hired machinery at a cost of $331,543. In 1955 $725,773 was spent by 1,941 farms for gasoline and other petroleum fuel and oil.

Vegetable farms in 1955 numbered 25 while dairy farms totalled 426 About 355 poultry farms were recorded.

Horses and mules 1.244 on 412 farms, cattle and calves, 33.108 on 1.648 farms, milk cows, 11.453 on 1.199 farms; hogs and pigs, 19.769 on 1.342 farms, sheep and lambs, 3.756 on 118 farms

The number of chickens sold from farms was 1.345.285 on 919 farms. The number of chicken eggs was 4.915.717 dozens on 1.353 farms

One thousand nine hundred thirty-one farms grew 43,459 acres of corn. Wheat was threshed or combined on 1.405 farms, the acreage threshed was 20.406

Approximately 351 farms reported that they were harvesting vegetables for sale on 3.499 acres in 1955 Sweet corn was grown for sale on 157 farms; green peas on 107 farms and tomatoes on 193 farms.

Three hundred seventy-two farms reported 16.774 acres of land in bearing and nonbearing fruit orchards, groves, vineyards and planted nut trees. Three hundred eleven farms reported harvesting 1.689.688 bushels of apples

Peaches are grown on 248 farms and sour cherries on 253 farms.

Nursery and greenhouse products on 16 farms paid off to the tune of $168.771

Firewood and fuelwood are cut on 486 farms. The value of firewood, fence posts, logs, lumber, pulpwood and piling and poles sold was estimated at $34.260 by 65 farms.

Adams County's farm agents and home economist are shown as they studied plans for the observance of the 40th anniversary of the establishment of the county Agricultural Extension Association. Shown left to right are Miss Florence Finger, county home economist, County Farm Agent Frank S. Zettle; Associate Agent Fred H. Attinger and Assistant County Agent J. David Naugle.

One of the most active of the groups sponsored by Agricultural Extension is the Adams County Senior Extension Club, made up mostly of young people who "graduated" from 4-H work and wished to carry on a program that has included community and county service. Becoming famed as folk dancers, the Senior Extension Club for the last several years has been part of the annual rural talent show at the Pennsylvania Farm Show and has on numerous occasions presented folk dancers for county groups. The officers shown left to right, front row, are Lucy Sell, East Berlin, secretary, and Edward Stoner, Orrtanna R. 1, vice president; back row, Carl Kessel, Aspers, editor of "Inklings," the club publication; Fred Crouse, Gettysgurg R. 3, president, and Carson Lamberson, New Oxford R. 1, treasurer.

that the women of the county were becoming more interested in kitchen equipment and kitchen decoration Four groups took up that study Aspers, Arendtsville, Fairfield and Barlow.

Nutrition Steady Favorite

Miss Adams reported 'the women sought convenient arrangement and balance of the kitchen to economize on time and space so as to save the housewife many needless steps Restful backgrounds giving a proper color scheme, cool and warm colors according to the location of the kitchen and treatment of the floor proved very beneficial to the homemaker "

Flower arrangement and containers proved of interest and Brushtown held a show with 22 exhibitors and 40 exhibits There was much study of rug making

In 1937 one of the most avid subjects for the homemakers was nutrition The women had been interested in food from the beginning In 1918 the home economist had been busy helping teach better methods of canning. Then the cold pack was becoming popular Later the hot pack was more favored by the ladies

Calorie Consciousness

1926 seemed to mark the time when the women of the county first became calorie conscious Bendersville, where Mrs H W Raffensperger was president Greenmount where Mrs F C Riley was president and York Springs, where Miss Blanche Gardner was president, seem to be the first groups to take up nutrition, and "calorie counting" as a study.

That interest in proper nutrition seemed to go along for years Well balanced meals were a top favorite up through the last few years

About 1940 the county women disclosed that they were using a greater variety of vegetables A questionnaire showed more canning of tomato juice, and that greens such as romaine, chicory, endive and escarole were being introducted into the diet

Miss Adams retired upon marrying Ward Houck in 1947 after a ten-year tenure as county home economist — the longest on record She was succeed by Miss Mildred E Tombler in 1947 and Mary Jane Mickey, now Mrs Silfred DeLuna, of Alexandria R. D., Pa., became home economist in 1948 and served until her marriage in 1954.

Miss Florence Finger, home economist since 1954, now serves 13 home economics groups The units and their presidents are: Barlow, Mrs. Wilbur Waybright, Conewago, Mrs Melvin Nace, Hanover R 5, Harrisburg Rd, Mrs Herbert Zepp, Gettysburg R 4; Littlestown, Mrs Emory Gitt, Littlestown R 2, Frogtown, Mrs. Aaron Rohrbaugh, Littlestown R. 2, Cashtown, Mrs. Hope Morgan; Alloway, Mrs. Guy King, Littlestown R 1; Butler Twp., Mrs John Leeti, Biglerville, Marsh Creek, Mrs John Hostetter, Gettysburg R 2, South Mountain, Mrs William Kane Jr, New Oxford, Mrs Clarence Lough, Hunt Ave., Mrs Merle Rudisill, Gettysburg R D, and Battlefield Mrs George Taughinbaugh, Gettysburg R 4

The groups are engaged in many projects, some vastly different from those of two or three decades ago, some very similar Color in the house is prominent, but so is flower arranging Textile painting is a new study, but furniture reupholstering has been studied for several years Low cost meals" combines a desire to keep up with the latest in nutritional requirements while combating the rising cost of living

Spot and stain removal are among other matters being studied, and how to make better salads. Household repairs — of appliances and even some plumbing -- are being studied "Children and money" is another subject on how to teach children the value of cash

And then there is one subject that probably is being studied as a preventive measure The course is entitled, "Be Trim--Lose Weight."

W. E. Jordan, Gettysburg R 1, is president of the Adams County Poultry Federation one of the county Agricultural Extension Association connected organizations. Other officers are Paul Osborn, Biglerville, vice president, and Glenn Kime, Gardners, secretary.

NEW YORK (AP) - Three experts in housing economics predict in a new report that there will be more new homes built in the next 25 years than in any similar period of the nation's history The three are Doctors Leo Grebler, David M Blank and Louis Winnick. The report was released by the Princeton University Press.

One of the most active of the groups sponsored by Agricultural Extension is the Adams County Senior Extension Club, made up mostly of young people who "graduated" from 4-H work and wished to carry on a program that has included community and county service. Becoming famed as folk dancers, the Senior Extension Club for the last several years has been part of the annual rural talent show at the Pennsylvania Farm Show and has on numerous occasions presented folk dancers for county groups. The officers shown left to right, front row, are Lucy Sell, East Berlin, secretary, and Edward Stoner, Orrtanna R. 1, vice president; back row, Carl Kessel, Aspers, editor of "Inklings," the club publication; Fred Crouse, Gettysgurg R. 3, president, and Carson Lamberson, New Oxford R. 1, treasurer.

that the women of the county were becoming more interested in kitchen equipment and kitchen decoration. Four groups took up that study, Aspers, Arendtsville, Fairfield and Barlow.

Nutrition Steady Favorite

Miss Adams reported "the women sought convenient arrangement and balance of the kitchen to economize on time and space, so as to save the housewife many needless steps. Restful backgrounds giving a proper color scheme, cool and warm colors according to the location of the kitchen and treatment of the floor proved very beneficial to the homemaker."

Flower arrangement and containers proved of interest and Brushtown held a show with 22 exhibitors and 40 exhibits. There was much study of rug making.

In 1937 one of the most avid subjects for the homemakers was nutrition. The women had been interested in food from the beginning. In 1918 the home economist had been busy helping teach better methods of canning. Then the cold pack was becoming popular. Later the hot pack was more favored by the ladies.

Calorie Consciousness

1926 seemed to mark the time when the women of the county first became calorie conscious. Bendersville, where Mrs. H. W. Raffensperger was president, Greenmount where Mrs. F. C. Riley was president and York Springs, where Miss Blanche Gardner was president, seem to be the first groups to take up nutrition, and "calorie counting" as a study.

That interest in proper nutrition seemed to go along for years. Well balanced meals were a top favorite up through the last few years.

About 1940 the county women disclosed that they were using a greater variety of vegetables. A questionnaire showed more canning of tomato juice, and that greens such as romaine, chicory, endive and escarole were being introducted into the diet.

Miss Adams retired upon marrying Ward Houck in 1947 after a ten-year tenure as county home economist — the longest on record. She was succeed by Miss Mildred E. Tombler in 1947 and Mary Jane Mickey, now Mrs Silfred DeLuna, of Alexandria R. D., Pa., became home economist in 1948 and served until her marriage in 1954.

Miss Florence Finger, home economist since 1954, now serves 13 home economics groups. The units and their presidents are: Barlow, Mrs. Wilbur Waybright; Conewago, Mrs. Melvin Nace, Hanover R. 5; Harrisburg Rd., Mrs. Herbert Zepp, Gettysburg R. 4; Littlestown, Mrs. Emory Gitt, Littlestown R. 2; Frogtown, Mrs. Aaron Rohrbaugh, Littlestown R. 2; Cashtown, Mrs. Hope Morgan; Alloway, Mrs. Guy King, Littlestown R. 1; Butler Twp., Mrs. John Leeti, Biglerville, Marsh Creek, Mrs. John Hostetter, Gettysburg R. 2; South Mountain, Mrs. William Kane Jr.; New Oxford, Mrs. Clarence Lough; Hunt Ave., Mrs. Merle Rudisill, Gettysburg R. D., and Battlefield, Mrs. George Taughinbaugh, Gettysburg R. 4.

The groups are engaged in many projectts, some vastly different from those of two or three decades ago, some very similar. Color in the house is prominent, but so is flower arranging. Textile painting is a new study, but furniture reupholstering has been studied for several years. "Low cost meals" combines a desire to keep up with the latest in nutritional requirements while combating the rising cost of living.

Spot and stain removal are among other matters being studied, and how to make better salads. Household repairs — of appliances and even some plumbing — are being studied. "Children and money" is another subject—on how to teach children the value of cash.

And then there is one subject that probably is being studied as a preventive measure. The course is entitled, "Be Trim—Lose Weight."

W. E, Jordan, Gettysburg R. 4, is president of the Adams County Poultry Federation, one of the county Agricultural Extension Association connected organizations. Other officers are Paul Osborn, Biglerville, vice president, and Glenn Kime, Gardners, secretary.

NEW YORK (AP) — Three experts in housing economics predict in a new report that there will be more new homes built in the next 25 years than in any similar period of the nation's history. The three are Doctors Leo Grebler, David M. Blank and Louis Winnick. The report was released by the Princeton University Press.

SEA GIRT, N. J. (AP)—Engineer George W. Saathoff recently completed a new home he designed with features to resist atom bomb blasts. Yesterday, Saathoff, 71, died outside the house—of a heart attack.

County's Farm Leaders Have Served On Board Of Agricultural Extension Association Since '16

The ladies—unidentified—apparently can hardly believe what they are hearing and seeing at an early demonstration held by the Adams County Agricultural Extension Association. Modern day misses, however, are enjoined not to ponder too much on the fashions shown—forty years of experience has shown that women s fashions have a habit of repeating.

Over the last 40 years a number of distinguished county residents have served as the board for the Adams County Agricultural Extension Association.

When it began in 1916 under the name of "Adams County Farm Bureau," the first officers were R. M. Eldon, temporary chairman and C. J. Tyson, temporary secretary. They were chosen at a meeting called by the then superintendent of schools, H. Milton Roth. An educational organization, Agricultural Extension has had the county superintendent of schools as its ex-offico board member for the 40-year period.

J. L. Butt served as president from 1916 to 1919 when E. F. Strausbaugh became president. Mr. Butt returned as president in 1921 the board during the first four years comprised Mr. Butt as president, W. H Stock, Harry Stitzel, John Menges, Samuel Keagy, E F. Strausbaugh, who was named vice president in 1917, George M. Rue, who was selected as secretary in 1918 to be succeded by John C. Bream in 1920, and C. A. Hershey who served as treasurer from 1916 to 1920.

BUMPER CROP OF DIVIDENDS IS SEEN AHEAD

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock owners trying to puzzle out what's happening in the post election market at least can take cheer today from the prospects for a bumper crop of dividends.

A record flow of cash to the share owners so far this year is reported today by the New York Stock Exchange's monthly magazine Th Exchange tallies nearly six billion dollars paid out in the first nine months to holders of common stocks listed on the big board This is 17 7 per cent more than in the same period last year.

Analysts of the corporate scene are betting that the total will be swelled further by year-end extras no matter how hesitant the market may be as it eyes the world's trouble spots

Small Purchases

They also see the small investor still adding to his holdings, with his odd-lot purchases topping his sales Some Wall Street observers predict that 1955 and 1956 together will see odd-lot purchases exceeding sales by more than 20 million shares

An odd-lot purchase is for any number of shares from 1 to 99 A round-lot is the established unit of trading, 100 shares It is in the ranks of the odd-lot trader that the small investor is usually found — and his numbers have been growing sincet he war.

The Exchange takes a look at each breed of trader as revealed in a study of stock transactions on two days considered typical.

The composite odd-lotter turns out to be a man about 48, making $8,700 a year, and purchasing 25 shares of stocks averaging $47 a share — or a total cost of $1,175. Men outnumber women, seven to three although more women buy odd lots than round lots

The composite round-lotter is 50 years old, making $16 500 a year For his 100 share purchase he chooses stocks averaging around $34 50 a share, making the round lot cost him $3,450. Round-lot traders are more prone to buy on margin

If cash income is the object of either type of buyer, 1956 has been a good year, despite the much discussed drop in yields of blue chips

Utilities Paid Best

The Exchange notes that of 1,079 common stock issues listed on the big board, 573 have paid higher dividends this year than last, 321 have maintained the previous rate, and only 67 paid less, while 118 paid nothing.

The top cash distributors, in dollar volume, were the utilities with a total of more than one billion dollars, petroleum and natural gas with a little less than one billion outlay, and the chemical group with more than one half billion

The largest numbers of non-dividend payers were 13 automotive common stocks and 12 railroad and rail equipment issues

CHICAGO (AP) — A Pike County, Pa., man collapsed and died here Sunday in the La Salle St railroad station He was identified as Charles Shellabarger, 70, of Paupack, a retired railroader. Police said papers in his pocket indicated he was a diabetic It was not determined why Shellabarger was here.

For a new flavor, sprinkle a generous dash of marjoram over sauteed mushrooms.

FINNEGAN SAW DEFEAT COMING

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Adlai Stevenson's campaign manager predicts that many of the defeated Democratic presidential candidate's suggestions during the recent campaign will become law

James A. Finnegan said in an interview Sunday that Adlai Stevenson's campaign "established a blueprint" for the solution of many national and international issues. Among the candidate's proposals that Finnegan said he expects to see adopted are those dealing with the aged, health, natural resources, H-bomb tests and the draft.

Finnegan, resting at his home here before taking a vacation, also said that party leaders were "conditioned for defeat" in the last few weeks before the election, "especially the last week before the election"

He said developments in the Middle East and Europe enhanced President Eisenhower's chances for re-election.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Medical students, a survey shows, are more apt to have recurring headaches than any other occupational group And farmers are the least susceptible

This was reported today by a Louisiana doctor in describing one of the most extensive surveys ever made of the causes and distribution of one of mankind's most prevalent disorders. The study showed that "over 60 per cent of the general population have headaches"

No Education Helps

And the survey, involving nearly 5,000 persons, showed also that your chances of having recurring headaches are strongest if you are (1) a woman, (2) under 20 years of age, and (3) unmarried.

People who are divorced or separated from their spouses are more apt to have them than happily married folks

People with no education at all are least apt to be sufferers among groups having varying degrees of education.

Medical Students Worst

Dr Henry Ogden of Louisiana State University School of Medicine gave results of the study in a scientific exhibit at the opening of the 50th anniversary meeting of the Southern Medical Assn

Dr Ogden said freshman and senior medical school students were questioned to get data on the headaches of college students, and it was found that more than 80 per cent of them were victims, topping even business executives, of whom 77 per cent are sufferers.

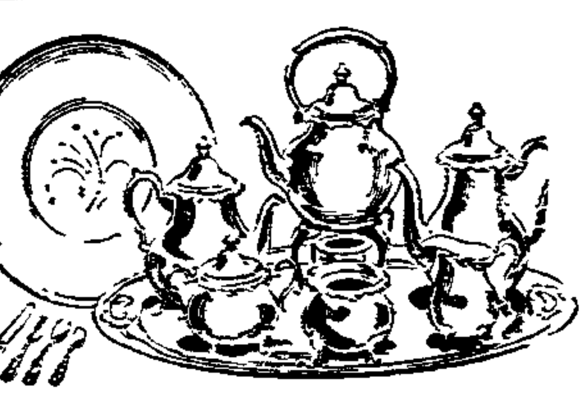
Texas Eastern aids the ancient art of the silversmith



TEXAS EASTERN SERVES THE COMPANIES THAT SERVE YOU

The natural gas used by The Gorham Company is supplied by Providence Gas Company through Algonquin Gas Transmission Company, a customer of Texas Eastern. Every type of fine silver, including flat ware and hollow ware, is manufactured by The Gorham Company.

Natural gas transported from the Southwest by Texas Eastern pipelines is a valued tool at The Gorham Company in Providence, Rhode Island — silversmiths since 1831. Here skilled artisans deftly manipulate precious metals into eternally beautiful flat ware and hollow ware. Gorham finds natural gas the ideal fuel because its temperature is readily controlled ... its atmosphere can be exactly regulated ... and most important, gas burns cleanly, protecting precious silverwork from harsh burnishing that would be necessary if other fuels were used. Today thousands of homes and industries depend upon natural gas ... the modern fuel which Texas Eastern makes abundantly available.

BUMPER CROP OF DIVIDENDS IS SEEN AHEAD

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock owners trying to puzzle out what's happening in the post election market at least can take cheer today from the prospects for a bumper crop of dividends.

A record flow of cash to the share owners so far this year is reported today by the New York Stock Exchange's monthly magazine. Th Exchange tallies nearly six billion dollars paid out in the first nine months to holders of common stocks listed on the big board. This is 17.7 per cent more than in the same period last year.

Analysts of the corporate scene are betting that the total will be swelled further by year-end extras, no matter how hesitant the market may be as it eyes the world's trouble spots.

Small Purchases

They also see the small investor still adding to his holdings, with his odd-lot purchases topping his sales. Some Wall Street observers predict that 1955 and 1956 together will see odd-lot purchases exceeding sales by more than 20 million shares.

An odd-lot purchase is for any number of shares from 1 to 99. A round-lot is the established unit of trading, 100 shares. It is in the ranks of the odd-lot trader that the small investor is usually found — and his numbers have been growing sincet he war.

The Exchange takes a look at each breed of trader as revealed in a study of stock transactions on two days considered typical.

The composite odd-lotter turns out to be a man about 48, making $8,700 a year, and purchasing 25 shares of stocks averaging $47 a share — or a total cost of $1,175. Men outnumber women, seven to three, although more women buy odd lots than round lots.

The composite round-lotter is 50 years old, making $16,500 a year. For his 100 share purchase he chooses stocks averaging around $34.50 a share, making the round lot cost him $3,450. Round-lot traders are more prone to buy on margin

If cash income is the object of either type of buyer, 1956 has been a good year, despite the much discussed drop in yields of blue chips.

Utilities Paid Best

The Exchange notes that of 1,079 common stock issues listed on the big board, 573 have paid higher dividends this year than last, 321 have maintained the previous rate, and only 67 paid less, while 118 paid nothing.

The top cash distributors, in dollar volume, were the utilities with a total of more than one billion dollars, petroleum and natural gas with a little less than one billion outlay, and the chemical group with more than one half billion.

The largest numbers of non-dividend payers were 13 automotive common stocks and 12 railroad and rail equipment issues.

CHICAGO (AP) — A Pike County, Pa., man collapsed and died here Sunday in the La Salle St. railroad station. He was identified as Charles Shellabarger, 70, of Paupack, a retired railroader. Police said papers in his pocket indicated he was a diabetic. It was not determined why Shellabarger was here.

IKE'S WREATH LAID AT TOMB

WASHINGTON (AP) — A presidential wreath was laid at the tomb of the Unknown Soldier in Arlington National Cemetery on Sunday as the nation's capital observed Veterans Day

Veterans Administrator Harvey V Higley represented President Eisenhower at the ceremony. More than 2,000 persons bowed their heads in silent reverence during the sounding of "Taps."

Film star James Stewart, principal speaker at the tomb, called the ceremony a double tribute, to those who died and to those "who returned to serve their country again."

"No one desires lasting peace more than those who know war," added Stewart, a World War II bomber pilot and an Air Force reserve colonel.

The Defense Department announced, meantime, that the World War I shrine will be expanded to honor an unknown soldier each from World War II and the Korean War. Tentative plans have been drawn to complete the change by Memorial Day 1958.

TWO DECISIONS ARE REVERSED BY HIGH COURT

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The Pennsylvania Supreme Court yesterday ruled that payments to religious institutions for the care of delinquent, neglected or dependent children is legal. The court also denied the right of the State Liquor Control Board to refuse the transfer of a liquor license where such transfer does not violate state law.

These were among a number of decisions handed down as the state's high tribunal opened its fall term in Philadelphia.

Both rulings were made on appeals from decisions by the Allegheny County Court.

The ruling on support payments denied an appeal by a group of Pittsburgh taxpayers who maintained that such payments are illegal under the principle of separation of church and state. They also contended the payments deprived them of freedom of religion guaranteed in the first amendment of the federal constitution.

Unanimous Decision

The unanimous decision was written by Justice Charles A. Jones.

In the liquor license case, the Liquor Control Board had denied Louis Obradovich of Pittsburgh the right to transfer a restaurant liquor license from one location in the city to another. This decision had been upheld by the Allegheny County Court and the State Superior Court

In reversing the lower courts, the Supreme Court, in an opinion by Chief Justice Horace Stern, said the board has no such power except when a transfer would violate certain provisions of the code, among which is establishment of a tavern within 300 feet of a church or school.

In other opinions, the court:

Upheld the death penalty imposed on Glenn A. Leamer by the Blair County Court of Oyer and Terminer for the Nov. 2, 1955, bludgeon slaying of his 92-year-old grandfather, Samuel J. Leamer, in a robbery.

Refused a new trial for James M. Fletcher of Bobtown, Greene County, for the 1953 shotgun slaying of a neighbor, Gerald Tanner, in an argument over attentions paid a married woman.

Reversed a $50,000 damage award against the Pennsylvania Railroad in favor of a Philadelphia boy, Daniel Dugan Jr., who had lost his right hand in a railroad accident in 1953, ruling the record failed to show negligence by the PRR.

In another decision, the court ruled that a woman cannot claim damages for injuries suffered in an automobile accident which occurred after she kissed the driver of the car.

Justice John C. Arnold said the woman, Miss Mary Lyons of McKeesport, was guilty "of some degree of negligence" contributing to the accident. She had sought damages from the driver, Alex Wargo of McKeesport.

IKE'S WREATH LAID AT TOMB

WASHINGTON (AP) — A presidential wreath was laid at the tomb of the Unknown Soldier in Arlington National Cemetery on Sunday as the nation's capital observed Veterans Day.

Veterans Administrator Harvey V. Higley represented President Eisenhower at the ceremony. More than 2,000 persons bowed their heads in silent reverence during the sounding of "Taps."

Film star James Stewart, principal speaker at the tomb, called the ceremony a double tribute, to those who died and to those "who returned to serve their country again."

"No one desires lasting peace more than those who know war," added Stewart, a World War II bombes pilot and an Air Force reserve colonel.

The Defense Department announced, meantime, that the World War I shrine will be expanded to honor an unknown soldier each from World War II and the Korean War. Tentative plans have been drawn to complete the change by Memorial Day 1958.

TWO DECISIONS ARE REVERSED BY HIGH COURT

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The Pennsylvania Supreme Court yesterday ruled that payments to religious institutions for the care of delinquent, neglected or dependent children is legal. The court also denied the right of the State Liquor Control Board to refuse the transfer of a liquor license where such transfer does not violate state law.

These were among a number of decisions handed down as the state's high tribunal opened its fall term in Philadelphia.

Both rulings were made on appeals from decisions by the Allegheny County Court.

The ruling on support payments denied an appeal by a group of Pittsburgh taxpayers who maintained that such payments are illegal under the principle of separation of church and state. They also contended the payments deprived them of freedom of religion guaranteed in the first amendment of the federal constitution.

Unanimous Decision

The unanimous decision was written by Justice Charles A. Jones.

In the liquor license case, the Liquor Control Board had denied Louis Obradovich of Pittsburgh the right to transfer a restaurant liquor license from one location in the city to another. This decision had been upheld by the Allegheny County Court and the State Superior Court.

In reversing the lower courts, the Supreme Court, in an opinion by Chief Justice Horace Stern, said the board has no such power except when a transfer would violate certain provisions of the code, among which is establishment of a tavern within 300 feet of a church or school.

In other opinions, the court:

Upheld the death plenalty imposed on Glenn A. Leamer by the Blair County Court of Oyer and Terminer for the Nov. 2, 1955, bludgeon slaying of his 92-year-old grandfather, Samuel J. Leamer, in a robbery.

Refused a new trial for James M. Fletcher of Bobtown, Greene County, for the 1953 shotgun slaying of a neighbor, Gerald Tanner, in an argument over attentions paid a married woman.

Reversed a $50,000 damage award against the Pennsylvania Railroad in favor of a Philadelphia boy, Daniel Dugan Jr., who had lost his right hand in a railroad accident in 1953, ruling the record failed to show negligence by the PRR.

In another decision, the court ruled that a woman cannot claim damages for injuries suffered in an automobile accident which occurred after she kissed the driver of the car.

Justice John C. Arnold said the woman, Miss Mary Lyons of McKeesport, was guilty "of some degree of negligence" contributing to the accident. She had sought damages from the driver, Alex Wargo of McKeesport.

BLAMES FUMES AS CAUSE FOR LUNG CANCERS

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Reporter

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. (AP) — Most lung cancers are not caused by cigarettes, but instead apparently by fumes and chemicals from our industrial, motorized age, a cancer expert said today.

Dr. W. C. Hueper of the National Cancer Institute said he bases his opinion on worldwide studies by many scientists.

He said this evidence indicates the alarming increase in lung cancer is probably due mostly to fumes, dust, gases and various chemicals in the air we breathe, or to which people are exposed on some jobs.

Smoking Less Important

Smoking seems to play "a definite, while lesser, direct or indirect role," in producing lung cancers, he said. He said the total evidence doesn't support the concept that the great majority of lung cancers, especially in men, are due to excessive cigarette smoking.

Some of the chemicals released into the air by engines and smokestacks, or produced in certain industrial operations, are known to be able to produce cancers in animals, he said.

He said there isn't enough data to estimate the relative role they may have played in the rise in lung cancer.

The jump in lung cancer began before cigarette smoking became commonplace, Hueper, head of the Environmental Cancer Section of the NCI, told the American Public Health Assn.

Police Push Search For Holdup Slayer

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Extra police details were ordered into West Philadelphia over the weekend following the holdup-murder of a real estate man and the brutal beating of a finance company manager.

Police also said they believed the robbers who beat George Sexton, 55, in his office Friday may also have been responsible for the bludgeon-murder of a South Philadelphia grocery store manager last September.

Sexton's beating followed the fatal shooting of the realtor, Joseph Langman, 75, and the beating of Langman's wife Thursday.

DISPUTE OVER STATE'S TAXES BEGINS ANEW

HARRISBURG (AP) — Claims that 250 million dollars in new revenue must be raised by the 1957 Legislature have been called "highly unwarranted" by the State Chamber of Commerce which said continuing present taxes at the same levels would meet all needs.

The chamber said in a weekend statement that by retaining present taxes, including the 3 per cent sales tax, and limiting a spending program only to commitments already made "there apparently would be no need to raise new revenues in 1957..."

The Pennsylvania Economy League, a non-partisan fiscal study group, has estimated the state would need 250 million dollars in new revenue for the 1957-59 biennium while Sen. Robert D. Fleming (R-Allegheny) has placed new revenue needs at between 200 and 250 millions.

In another development House Speaker H. G. Andrews (D-Cambria) said he will introduce bills in the 1957 Legislature to establish a "parity" between Pennsylvania and Ohio business taxes.

Andrews said his proposals will be aimed at criticisms that Pennsylvania business taxes are driving industries into Ohio. He didn't spell out the measures planned but said they would call for changes "wherever they say Ohio is more favorable."

BLAMES FUMES AS CAUSE FOR LUNG CANCERS

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Reporter

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. (AP) — Most lung cancers are not caused by cigarettes, but instead apparently by fumes and chemicals from our industrial, motorized age, a cancer expert said today.

Dr. W. C. Hueper of the National Cancer Institute said he bases his opinion on worldwide studies by many scientists.

He said this evidence indicates the alarming increase in lung cancer is probably due mostly to fumes, dust, gases and various chemicals in the air we breathe, or to which people are exposed on some jobs.

Smoking Less Important

Smoking seems to play "a definite, while lesser, direct or indirect role," in producing lung cancers, he said. He said the total evidence doesn't support the concept that the great majority of lung cancers, especially in men, are due to excessive cigarette smoking.

Some of the chemicals released into the air by engines and smokestacks, or produced in certain industrial operations, are known to be able to produce cancers in animals, he said.

He said there isn't enough data to estimate the relative role they may have played in the rise in lung cancer.

The jump in lung cancer began before cigarette smoking became commonplace. Hueper, head of the Environmental Cancer Section of the NCI, told the American Public Health Assn.

Police Push Search For Holdup Slayer

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Extra police details were ordered into West Philadelphia over the weekend following the holdup-murder of a real estate man and the brutal beating of a finance company manager.

Police also said they believed the robbers who beat George Sexton, 55, in his office Friday may also have been responsible for the bludgeon-murder of a South Philadelphia grocery store manager last September.

Sexton's beating followed the fatal shooting of the realtor, Joseph Langman, 75, and the beating of Langman's wife Thursday.

DISPUTE OVER STATE'S TAXES BEGINS ANEW

HARRISBURG (AP) — Claims that 250 million dollars in new revenue must be raised by the 1957 Legislature have been called "highly unwarranted" by the State Chamber of Commerce which said continuing present taxes at the same levels would meet all needs.

The chamber said in a weekend statement that by retaining present taxes, including the 3 per cent sales tax, and limiting a spending program only to commitments already made "there apparently would be no need to raise new revenues in 1957. . ."

The Pennsylvania Economy League, a non-partisan fiscal study group, has estimated the state would need 250 million dollars in new revenue for the 1957-59 biennium while Sen. Robert D. Fleming (R-Allegheny) has placed new revenue needs at between 200 and 250 millions.

In another development House Speaker H. G. Andrews (D-Cambria) said he will introduce bills in the 1957 Legislature to establish a "parity" between Pennsylvania and Ohio business taxes.

Andrews said his proposals will be aimed at criticisms that Pennsylvania business taxes are driving industries into Ohio. He didn't spell out the measures planned but said they would call for changes "wherever they say Ohio is more favorable."
